Koreas Shoot Down U.S. Copter

WASHINGTON (AP) — A U.S. Army helicopter was shot down over North Korea today and President Carter said three crew members were killed and a fourth captured.

The North Koreans ignored U.S. requests for a meeting at Panmunjom truce village to discuss the tension-raising incident.

Carter told Senate leaders he wants to make sure "this does not escalate into a confrontation."

Carter said North Koreans fired a warning shot as the Chinook helicopter, carrying construction material, strayed north over the demilitarized zone. He said the crew left the craft after it landed in North Korea, inspected it, and then took off as North Koreans approached.

At that point, he said, the helicopter was shot down and two of the crewmen were killed in the crash. Carter said a third crewman was killed in an exchange of gunfire and the fourth was captured.

The North Koreans said hours earlier that three Americans had died and a fourth was captured.

"It was a routine flight from the west coast of Korea to the east coast in daylight," Carter told the leaders, who came to the White House. "The helicopter apparently lost a navigational fix.

"Of course, that's a surmise," Carter said.

The United Nations command in Seoul said the intrusion into North Korean air space was unintentional. It requested immediate return of crew and craft as well as an urgent meeting at Panmunjom.

The North Koreans countered with a proposal that the session be delayed until Saturday. They ignored a U.N. call for a meeting at 8 p.m. Thursday (7 a.m. EDT) and did not reply to another proposal that they meet Friday.

The helicopter downing is certain to increase controversy over Carter's plan to recall all 33,000 remaining U.S. ground forces from South Korea over the next four or five years.

Only hours earlier Congress heard testimony that the Joint Chiefs of Staff recommended a smaller and slower withdrawal.

Supporters of a strong U.S. military presence take the view that the troops serve as a deterrent to an invasion from North Korea.

Advocates of withdrawal contend that almost a quarter-century since the end of the Korean war it is time to have the government of President

Park Chung-hee in Seoul take principal responsibility for its own defense.

Besides, Carter intends to retain U.S. air and naval strength in the region and to provide South Korean forces with advanced antitank and communications equipment.

The helicopter downing was the first by North Korea since 1969. It was also the second incident involving U.S. helicopters in Korea within 24 hours.

A Marine helicopter crashed

Tuesday night during training operations in the south and two hours later, an Army helicopter assisting in rescue operations also crashed.

Three Americans were killed and nine injured in the two accidents.

Blackout Paralyzes N.Y.C.

NEW YORK (AP) — New York City was closed today, paralyzed in daylight as in darkness by a massive, lightning-triggered blackout.

As dawn brought the first light in hours to the 10 million residents who endured the hot summer night without power, Mayor Abraham D. Beame told the people who live and work here:

"It will not be possible to operate a normal day. I urge you to stay home until the emergency has been resolved."

By about 9 a.m. power was restored to about 650,000 of Con Edison's 2.8

million customers. Among areas restored were parts of Staten Island and Queens, the Lenox Hill section of Manhattan's East Side and most of Westchester County north of the city. But in the heart of the nation's biggest city, there was barely a trickle of electricity.

Beame declared a state of emergency and called for an investigation, saying, "We can not tolerate in this age of modern technology a power system that can shut down the nation's largest city."

That shutdown precipitated a long humid night of looting. Police said 2,000 persons were arrested on that charge; 78 police officers were reported injured, including one who was shot.

Traffic in the city was extremely light as residents and workers apparently heeded Beame's request to stay home. Cabs and buses were operating, although no traffic signals worked. Police directed traffic only at major intersections. At others, drivers uncharacteristically edged through.

Banks, state office buildings and Off Track Betting offices were closed. So were summer schools and gas station pumps.

Water was cut off in many of the city's larger buildings as electric pumps failed.

The subways were useless, most commuter railroads motionless. Wall Street was shut down, the stock market out of business for the duration. Elevators were immobilized.

Beame said there could be no subway or rail service until 2½ hours after power was fully restored. Consolidated Edison officials could not say when that would be.

Beame urged New Yorkers not to drive their cars, either.

"Leave them where they are," he said.

The mayor said only people in jobs essential to health and safety should report to work.

The blackout was triggered when devices designed to protect the area's power system failed during a raging electrical storm that swept through the New York area Wednesday night, stinging power lines and generating stations with lightning bolts. Power station after power station failed as demand for electricity continued high.

By 9:34 p.m., the blackout had cascaded across the city's five boroughs and into its northern and eastern suburbs and parts of New Jersey.

"All of a sudden, New York disappeared," said a diner atop the quarter-mile high World Trade Center. "All you could see was New Jersey."

Thousands were trapped, at least temporarily, in subways and elevators, and in skyscrapers floors above the stalled elevators.

The looting that spread throughout the five boroughs contrasted to the remarkable harmony during a similar blackout over the Northeast on Nov. 9, 1965.

The first success at restoring power came just before 2 a.m., when power returned to 150,000 customers in the Jamaica area of Queens. In the next hour, 117,000 homes in Westchester County were relighted.

Both the Long Island Railroad and Conrail commuter trains that normally carry 370,000 commuters were unable to move.

The tunnels into the city from Brooklyn and Queens were closed because of a lack of ventilation.

Deadlock Broken For Helsinki Talks

BELGRADE, Yugoslavia (AP) — A U.S.-Soviet deadlock at the preliminary meeting to arrange a Helsinki follow-up conference appears broken, Western diplomats report.

"It looks like we have a major breakthrough," the sources said Wednesday, reporting that the Soviets and Americans agreed to a procedural proposal presented by nine neutral and nonaligned nations.

The Belgrade meeting hopes to draw up an agenda for a conference this fall to assess the effectiveness of the agreements on European cooperation and security signed at Helsinki by the Soviet Union, the United States, Canada and 32 European countries.

The Soviet delegates resisted U.S. efforts to provide opportunities for a full review of how the Helsinki human rights provisions have been carried out.

The Russians demanded a cut-off date for the conference. The Americans feared that if they accepted this, the Russians would block discussion of human rights by filibustering until the conference ended.

As a compromise, the neutral and non-aligned nations proposed that the conference strive to finish by Dec. 15, but that five working groups be set-up to consider and debate each aspect of the Helsinki agreements. This would give the Russians the deadline they demanded and the United States a special forum for debate on human rights.

Diplomatic sources said Albert Sherer and Yuri Vorontsov, the chief U.S. and Soviet delegates, agreed to use the proposal as a basis for breaking the impasse. The sources said the agenda probably could now be settled "sooner than we thought."

Human rights were also discussed in London at a meeting between several congressmen and members of the European Parliament. Rep. Donald M. Frazer, D-Minn., said Wednesday at the close of the three-day session that the two bodies were moving closer to joint action on human rights violations.

He said this would include urgent intervention where lives were in danger, combined hearings on human rights problems and publication of an information bulletin on human rights issues and activities.

Members of the two bodies are to meet again in six months to consider how to proceed. The European Parliament represents the nine Western European nations of the Common Market and meets in Strasbourg, France.

Innocent Plea Entered In Case

CINCINNATI (AP) — A medical center operator, indicted after a Medicaid fraud investigation, has pleaded innocent to five charges.

Dr. Bertold Pembaur, operator of the Rockdale Medical Center, and his administrative assistant, Mary Ruth McMahan, were arraigned Tuesday, in Hamilton County Common Pleas court.

Each pleaded innocent to charges of theft, complicity, receiving stolen property, obstruction of official business and obstructing justice.

Police and Hamilton County prosecutor's investigators broke down the doors of Dr. Pembaur's office May 19 to serve arrest warrants on two of his employees.

Hot, Humid Air Sparks More Storms

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Hot and humid weather steamed a broad stretch of the nation from Texas to the Great Lakes today after setting off violent thunderstorms over the northern Plains.

A severe summer storm dumped 3 inches of rain and hailstones the size of tennis balls in areas near Laurelville Thursday.

The rain fell in less than a 20 minute period, flooding the streets of Laurelville.

The hailstones were large enough to break windows in houses and caused extensive damage to crops in the area. Automobiles parked outside in the areas hit hardest by the hail were damaged.

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department received no reports of wind damage and there were no extended electrical outages caused by the storm.

Tornadoes and heavy rains struck the eastern Dakotas and Minnesota late Wednesday night. No injuries were reported and damage appeared to be minor.

A store was damaged at Sharon, N.D., and nearly 1.5 inches of rain poured down in half an hour. Agricultural buildings and a trailer were damaged at Elrod, in northwest Minnesota, and a car was blown off the road.

A funnel cloud was reported as far north as International Falls on the Canadian-Minnesota border. Another tornado was sighted at Wessington Springs in central South Dakota.

Severe weather also broke out in blistering heat anchored over the Deep South. In southwest Alabama, trees and power lines were downed near Atmore and a home was destroyed by lightning.

Temperatures remained in the sticky 70s and 80s overnight across most of the southern two-thirds of the country east of the Rockies. Another day in the 90s or higher was in prospect for many of the same regions.

Readings overnight ranged from 43 at Lewiston, Maine, to 95 at Needles, Calif.

PCWD Gets Utility Bill Assistance

Pauline E. Roese, director of the Pickaway County Welfare Department has announced that the agency has received a federal grant in the amount of $57,683 to assist the elderly and low-income households with payment of their utility bills.

Fuel bills which will be allowed for consideration of payment are those incurred from October 1, 1976 through August 31, 1977.

First priority will be for the elderly whose utilities have been disconnected or are delinquent, and second priority will be the low-income households.

Applications for the Special Energy Program will be taken until August 12th at the local welfare department located at 109 East Mound Street, Circleville. For the elderly that are unable to apply in person, a service worker will go to the home and take the application. For additional information phone 474-7580 or 474-7588.

FIRST AID INSTRUCTION — Carolyn Roundhouse, a member of the Circleville Emergency Medical Team, offers instruction in first aid to campers at the YMCA Day

Camp. The first session of camp ends Friday, but two more sessions will be offered by the Pickaway County Family YMCA.

Solon's Wife Apparent Suicide

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jane Young, the wife of a Texas congressman who figured in last year's congressional sex scandal, has been shot to death in her suburban home. Police said today the shooting appeared to be a suicide.

Mrs. Young, 55, the mother of five, was found unconscious in bed at 7 p.m. Wednesday by her husband, Rep. John Young, D-Tex., police said. Officers said she had a bullet wound in her right temple. A .22-caliber pistol lay nearby.

She was taken by ambulance from her McLean, Va., home to nearby Arlington Hospital, where she was given emergency treatment for almost an hour before she was pronounced dead at 9:15 p.m., said nursing supervisor Carol Harrah.

No suicide note was found, police reported. A police spokesman said the cause of death was under investigation pending a ruling by the Fairfax County medical examiner. But the spokesman added that the wound was "apparently self-inflicted."

The congressman could not be reached. His son, John, told callers: "We will have no comment. Please call back tomorrow." The Youngs' children range in age from 25 to 14.

Young's name surfaced in the sex scandal when a former employee, Colleen Gardner, accused him of putting her on his congressional payroll at a salary that reached $26,000 a year, mainly for sex. She said he refused to allow her to do much meaningful work.

"Poppycock," Young snorted. At the height of the sex scandal, Mrs. Young called the Corpus Christi, Tex., Times and defended her husband against Mrs. Gardner's accusations, according to reporter Peter Applebome.

He quoted her as saying: "John and I have had 26 fine, good years together and I'm not going to let something like this destroy a relationship. Oh, Lord, mercy no. Her allegations don't concern me. What does concern me is that anyone would take her word and report it."

The sex scandal, involving a handful of members of Congress, forced Rep. Wayne L. Hays, the once-powerful chairman of the House Administration Committee, to resign from Congress. He was accused by one-time aide Elizabeth Ray of hiring her for sex.

The Justice Department investigated the allegations against Hays and Young but closed its books on the sex scandal last December after saying it could not find enough evidence to prosecute anyone.

Young was re-elected last November.

Mrs. Gardner's attorney, Sol Rosen, said Wednesday night that Young has filed a $6 million lawsuit against Mrs. Gardner, Rosen and The New York Times charging libel and defamation of character in their roles in making public the allegations against Young.

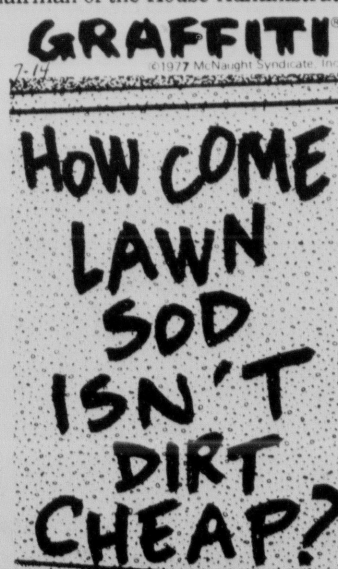

Rosen said the suit was filed June 9 in U.S. District Court here.

McGuffey Societies Plan Convention

OXFORD, Ohio (AP) — A spelling bee, a reading contest and a talk by the curator of Miami University's McGuffey Museum will be the features of the 41st annual convention of the Federation of McGuffey Societies.

The annual convention is held to commemorate the fact that William Holmes McGuffey, as a faculty member at Miami from 1826-32, prepared and tested on neighbors' children the readers and reading charts that were to become a dominant factor in America's elementary schools through the next 100 years.

Miami maintains a museum on campus in the home which McGuffey built and the museum includes one of the most extensive collections of the McGuffey Readers.

FPC Staff Urges 'No' To Columbia

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's largest natural gas pipeline should not be allowed to charge consumers nearly $14 million for emergency gas purchases during the winter, two Federal Power Commission specialists say.

Testimony of the specialists in the Columbia Gas Transmission Co. case was made public Wednesday by Sen. Howard Metzenbaum, D-Ohio. The testimony was given in preparation for FPC hearings on Metzenbaum's complaint against the pipeline.

In the complaint, filed Feb. 11, Metzenbaum charged that Columbia acted irresponsibly in disposing of 7.5 billion cubic feet of gas last fall. The senator contended that if the firm had curtailed sales, its regular customers in eight states would have been protected during the harsh winter.

Columbia later had to buy replacement gas, at a cost of $13.9 million.

The FPC technicians, Robert E. Scarbrough and Cristobal Hernandez, testified that the emergency gas cost about $2.75 per 1,000 cubic feet, three times the firm's usual selling price.

"Had Columbia taken the necessary action to protect storage, it would have had additional gas volumes of approximately 7.5 billion cubic feet in storage on Nov. 1, 1976," Hernandez said.

"This volume would have been available to help meet Columbia's winter-season requirements and would have reduced, by an equivalent amount, its need for higher-priced emergency supplies," he said.

Kutler Trial Change Set

CLEVELAND (AP) — The murder trial of Dr. Stuart Kutler, who is charged in the slaying of an 8-year-old boy, will be held outside Cuyahoga County, the judge in the case ruled today.

Cuyahoga County Common Pleas Court Judge Harry Hanna said the trial of the Brecksville doctor calls for a change of venue because efforts to impanel an impartial jury have failed. He said only one of 22 prospective jurors hadn't heard about the case.

Hanna said the case was "bizarre and intriguing enough to spark a great deal of interest" and had become a conversation piece.

Kutler is charged in the alleged beating death last Feb. 8 of Arthur Noske, whose body has not been found.

Both defense and prosecution lawyers had asked that the trial be held outside the county because of pretrial publicity.

The main witness in the case is Arthur's mother Ann, who at first told police that her son disappeared while they were at a shopping mall, but later changed her story and said that Kutler, her boyfriend, beat the child to death.

Mainly About People

Melissa Jean Downs, Tarlton, is currently a patient in room 407, Childrens Hospital, Columbus.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Weiland, the former Marilyn Duleson, are currently residing at 303 Garman, Belere, New Mexico.

Pre-Trial Plan Wins Backing

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — County prosecutors would be authorized to establish pre-trial rehabilitation programs for certain adult offenders under legislation approved 84-11 by the House Tuesday.

Rep. Helen Fix, R-26 Cincinnati, said the programs would be voluntary on the part of prosecutors, and that they would be made available only to applicants who had been carefully screened.

Mrs. Fix said several counties, including Franklin, Allen, Licking and Montgomery, already have such programs despite the lack of specific authority in the law.

She said those programs have resulted in substantial savings in court costs and have helped alleviate the problem of overcrowded jails.

Applicants granted the right to participate in the programs could still be brought to trial if they failed to complete them satisfactorily.

Public Meetings

TUESDAY
Circleville Twp. Zoning Appeals Board, 7:30 p.m., in Pickaway County Common Pleas Court.

Energy Bill Approved

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A House subcommittee patched together today an omnibus energy bill, creating a new agency with far-reaching authority to deal with crisis situations such as the natural gas shortage last winter.

The complex measure was voted out of the subcommittee for full hearings beginning next Monday in the House Energy and Environment Committee.

Meanwhile, across the Statehouse members of the Senate Energy and Public Utilities Committee adopted 6-2 a report critical of the management decisions made last winter by Columbia Gas of Ohio, Inc. and the Dayton Power and Light Co.

Sens. Thomas A. Van Meter, R-19 Ashland, and William H. Mussey, R-14 Batavia, voted against the adopting the report of the committee. Van Meter has been sharply critical of committee chairman Sen. Neal F. Zimmers Jr., D-5 Dayton.

Van Meter claims Zimmers and other majority Democrats shut Republicans out of the probe.

Panel Approves Atom Resolution

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The House Energy and Environment Committee approved a resolution, Wednesday that urges the hiring of Ohio contractors for work on the new uranium enrichment plant at Piketon.

The resolution asks President Carter and the U.S. Energy and Research Development Agency to "encourage" hiring of Ohioans when contracts are let for the facility near Portsmouth.

The House Rules Committee must now assign the measure to a floor vote. It was sponsored by Rep. Ike Thompson, D-13 Cleveland.

Voters Approve School Bond Issue

LEBANON, Ohio (AP) — Voters in the Franklin City School District have approved a $515,000 bond issue by a vote of 860-131.

Mound City Expansion Studied

A feasibility team from the National Park Service will be examining property surrounding the Mound City Group National Monument north of Chillicothe for possible expansion of the site.

Immediate plans call for addition of about 65 acres of federally-owned land adjacent to the monument on Route 104.

The team will be considering the acquisition of about 1,500 acres of private land on the east side of the Scioto River across from the Mound City area.

The land is the generally unexplored archeological site of the Hopeton earthworks.

The feasibility will begin July 25, and the park service plans to meet with area residents July 27 to discuss the proposed Hopeton acquisition.

Continue Search For Mrs. Hughes

Ross County Sheriff's Deputies are continuing their search for a Chillicothe woman who mysteriously disappeared Saturday night.

Mrs. Cheryl A. Hughes, 32, who is employed at the RCA Glass Plant, Circleville, was last seen Saturday night while picking up a pizza at a Chillicothe restaurant for her husband, Donald.

The van she was driving that night was discovered abandoned on Walnut Creek Road in Ross County. The keys were in the ignition of the vehicle when it was found, and her purse and wallet were found undisturbed.

Ross County Sheriff Thomas Hamman said there was no sign of a struggle near the vehicle.

Mr. and Mrs. Hughes have three children: Tina, 13, Steven, 10, and Jana, 2.

Life A Drag? Try Doing Some Aerobatics

HILLSBORO, Ore. (AP) — Life's a drag. There's no adventure left. Walk a tightrope? Scale a canyon? Tame a lion? Ho Hum.

Anyone who has flown in an open cockpit over the Oregon countryside with a mere slip of a girl at the controls, and looped the loop and rolled the barrel and generally cavorted upside down in the sky, knows that no other damn foolishness exists.

"There's nothing like aerobatics and no way to describe the exhilaration, the euphoria," said Patti Johnson. "Some people think it's better than sex. I don't, but it sure is second best."

Patti Johnson is one of fewer than a dozen women among the nation's small group of pilots, about 150, who are serious aerobats.

She is 24, stands 5-4 and weighs 110. When she tucks her short brown hair into a leather helmet and pulls big goggles over her skyblue eyes and climbs into her tiny biplane she is Amelia Earhart reincarnate, freckles and all.

For all the kicks her daily life provides, though, Patti Johnson is in no way frivolous about aerobatics.

"We resent being called daredevils, or stunt flyers. Those words have a ring of carelessness to them. Aerobatics is an art, a combination of a science and an art.

"You work on your airplane until you know exactly how it will perform best for you, mechanically. That's the science. Then you fly your maneuvers precisely in an imaginative, flowing sequence. That's the art."

"We're judged in competition sort of the way figure skaters are judged. We do required maneuvers — loops, rolls, spins, stall turns, and endless variations of them. It's how you put them together and perform them that matters."

The way Patti Johnson performs them has ranked her among the nation's top onethird in the advanced category, a cut below the elite unlimited class.

She figures that when she gets her airplane balanced and tuned to her satisfaction she will take on the 15 or so flyers in the unlimited division. Aerobats compete in two events a year, one at Fond du Lac, Wis., the other at Sherman, Texas.

Average the scores at both events and you get a national champion, currently a pilot with an aerobatic performance as flowing as his name, Leo Loudenslager, of Sussex, N.J.

Patti Johnson makes no bones about expecting to be champ herself some day, but she is in no hurry.

"If I really drive myself, set up some artificial timetable, it would take all the fun out of it. I do this because I love it. I love it more than anything. I don't want to spoil that."

She also has a somewhat torrid love affair with her airplane itself.

She designed its red, white and blue paint job, painted a yellow Woodstock bird on its tail, painted its name, L11 Puffer Belly, on its nose, fitted out its polished silver propeller with red velvet booties. To keep rust off? "No, they're pretty."

Patti has another, larger plane which she romanced earlier and still feels kindly toward — she likens the old beau to an eagle, the new one to a hummingbird — but it is the hummingbird that has her heart.

The plane is called a Pitts. It weighs only 900 pounds, has a wingspan of just 17 feet. Out on the runway with the big guys it looks almost like a toy.

Patti Johnson didn't start out to be an aerobat.

She took up flying as a hobby when she was 17, quickly became good at it and quit work as a registered nurse to become a flying instructor. To qualify, she had to practice spins and went up in an aerobatic plane to learn.

"Want to try a loop?" said the teacher.

"Why not?" said the student. "From then on, I was hooked. I thought it was the greatest thing in the world. I still do."

My, yes. To soar above the eastern horizon into the sky, to float inverted and breathless, staring straight down at the checkered ground, to zoom earthward and see the western horizon appear from behind, to do all of this in one roaring, whispering sweep of sights and sounds and feel your body grow heavy and light and giddy and tense is an experience not easily matched.

Right, Patti. Second best.

Warm Front May Help Field Work

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Here is the agriculture weather advisory provided by the National Weather Service:

A warm front will be moving back through Ohio today, returning hot and humid weather to the state. Showers and thunder showers will return to the forecast by Friday as a cold front moves eastward.

Field Operations — Field activities will be uninterrupted today as evaporative rates exceed 25 hundredths of an inch.

Moisture Information — Extension specialists and Ohio farmers are reporting unusually wide variations in soil moisture conditions. Spring and summer rainfall has been very spotty, and west central Ohio has been especially dry and some further deterioration has occurred this past week.

Haying — Hay harvesting conditions will be excellent today. Drying rates will be fast. Haylage harvest will be possible today and part of Friday, but the risk of wetting will return quickly for field drying new cut hay.

Small Grain Harvest — Combining conditions will be good today. Relative humidities will be rather high, but should not interfere with dry down. This could be the best day for small grain harvest this week.

Fruits and Vegetables — Fruits and vegetables now reaching mature stages will be ripening very fast. Hot and humid weather will tend to shorten the peak quality harvest period.

Spraying — Surface winds will be acceptable for spray applications much of the day today. Drying will be rapid, and there should be a 24 to 36 hour rain free period.

MD Carnival Scheduled

A neighborhood carnival against dystrophy will be held Saturday at 335 Sunset Drive. Mary Delores Howley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Howley will serve as ringmaster assisted by Jody Wynkoop, Theresa Ebbrecht, Christine Halm, Jennifer Peters, Susan Peters, Beth Scranton, John and Paula Howley.

The carnival, which begins at 11 a.m., will feature such games as: bean bag toss, fortune teller, pie toss, pass the penny, book sale, toy auction and musical chairs and all proceeds will go to aid the fight against dystrophy and related diseases afflicting millions.

The children got the idea for staging the event while watching TV personality Jerry Lewis who is promoting carnivals.

Last year, in cooperation with the Muscular Dystrophy Assn. 40,078 carnivals were held by children across the country and over $1.4 million was raised for MDA's research and patient service programs.

Senate OKs Bomb Work

WASHINGTON (AP) - Congress is giving President Carter authority to go ahead with development of controversial neutron warheads, but is retaining the power to veto any effort to place the weapons into production.

After nine hours of frequently emotional debate, the Senate Wednesday night rejected 58 to 38 a move headed by Sen. Mark Hatfield, R-Ore., to cut out funds for the weapon contained in a Public Works Appropriations Bill.

The bill now goes to a House-Senate conference committee which must decide whether to leave in a limitation allowing Congress to reverse a presidential decision to produce the warheads designed for use by NATO forces in western Europe.

Carter has said he will decide next month whether to order production of the warheads, which kill more by highly-concentrated radiation than the explosive power of more traditional nuclear weapons.

A Page Of Opinion

Leisure Mores Changing

Togetherness — that much talked about, little understood ideal which crops up now and then — really doesn't exist. It may be reality in Zaire or Lower Aberdard, but it rubs against the grain in societies with continually rising standards of living.

Some idea of life in the future may be obtained by comparing social pursuits of the present with those in Granddad's day. Conversation was the biggest loser as households became smaller and visual entertainment replaced parlor games and evening visitations.

Perhaps other social forces in time will again promote companionship between families and communities. The twentieth century might be called the age of experimentation in coping with leisure.

As the newness of trying all manner of after-work diversionary activities wears off, more and more people may rediscover the endless enjoyment of associating with other two-legged creatures.

Contradictory though it may seem the opportunity for greater leisure carries an increasing responsibility to use it wisely. Otherwise, waste—both in enjoyment and social progress—often is the result.

Sandy's A Star

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK — Never in the history of Broadway has there been a success story like his . . .

Sandy, the dog star of the award-winning musical "Annie," was huddled miserably in a cage at the rear of a room in The Connecticut Humane Society. Doom was written on his face. He was scheduled to be put to sleep the next morning.

Suddenly a 26-year-old man named Bill Berloni walked into that room. Dozens of assembled canines began to bark at him, demanding attention. But Berloni was looking for a "star," and his gaze fell upon Sandy and, in a moment considerably more poignant than the day a talent scout discovered Lana Turner in a sweater at Schwab's Pharmacy, Berloni murmured quietly, "I want that dog."

"I felt so sorry for this poor, pitiful looking thing. He just looked up at me with the most defeated eyes I've ever seen. At the time, I was studying to be a starving actor - and, in the eyes of this dog, I saw an animal who'd already made the grade."

An official of the Humane Society said Berloni would have to act fast, if he wanted to buy him, because D-day was the following morning. Berloni had no money on him, and pleaded for a stay of extermination. "If you can come back real early before we open in the morning, with the money, you can have him."

The next morning at dawn Berloni took off for the Humane Society, bought Sandy for $10, took him back to the Goodspeed Opera House in East Haddam, Conn., washed and blew dry his scruffy coat, and meekly presented him to the staff and cast of the musical.

"Everybody immediately wanted to hug him, and that terrified Sandy even more," remembers Berloni. "There was like a staff of 70 people who wanted to kiss him, and Sandy just shrank and whimpered."

And so a star was born, before anybody even knew whether he could say "Arf" like Sandy.

Sandy, the dog of indeterminate origin, though he appears to have his roots in Irish wolfhound and perhaps airedale, is now the most celebrated performer in the most celebrated show on Broadway. Fans cluster outside the stage door at the Alvin Theatre every night and matinee afternoon hoping for just a glance from his still-pitiful big brown eyes, and when Bill Berloni takes him walking - along with his understudy, a more distinguishable (predominately Irish setter) mutt named "Arf" - in Central Park, people are constantly rushing forward to pat his back for a great performance.

"It's hazardous, almost," says the good-looking young Berloni, who has had to put his own acting career in the background as he trains and tends his hot box office attraction. "Sandy and Arf are just normal dogs. They like to chase squirrels and pee on fire hydrants. But people are coming up to them all the time, and it scares Sandy. I don't know what his background was before he was brought to the pound, but I feel he really was abused."

Berloni estimates that the play could run seven or eight years, and that Sandy will stick with it: he has a run-of-play contract, and is believed to be only about two years old now. "Arf," the understudy, has never had to fill in for Sandy, and Berloni dreads the night that might be necessary. "This dog," he says, pointing to a snoring Sandy, "is so mellow. But this dog" - pointing to Arf, who is racing down a corridor - "bounces off the walls. Arf picked up the tricks in half the time it took me to train Sandy, but he's young. Only about a year old. I'm afraid he might take a plop on stage."

According to Berloni, Sandy is far from perfection as an actor. "He's so relaxed that sometimes he falls asleep on stage. Other times, he licks himself in an embarrassing spot. Some nights he'll be ornery and during the curtain calls, he'll turn his back on the audience and sit down. We had to perform in the East Room at the White House, and he took offense at the portrait of Martha Washington and just started barking at her."

"But I think the thing that's going for Sandy is that I'm not a professional dog trainer - I don't know enough to train him to be a robot. So he goes up a lot. And the audience loves that. When he does something that's really doggy, they think it's wonderful. The audiences know that he's not a brilliant, trained dog. He's a mutt who's fudging it . . ."

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In the two months following Independence Day, when the days are humid and customers are vacationing, the cares of business sometimes take a siesta.

This little midsummer nap of buyer and seller often appears clearly in the mix of retail sales, in the number of corporate announcements, in business decisions postponed, in the pace of stock market activity.

One day this week an oldtime broker on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange was sitting at his post, knees crossed, the daily newspaper crossword puzzle occupying his attention.

But the sometimes dull days of summer do not mean businessmen cease worrying. Not everything is put off until labor day. No, they ponder, for example, what is to become of OSHA. And they busy themselves with its paperwork.

OSHA is the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970, and according to some of its many critics, it has brought more harassment to business than safety and health to workers.

The Bureau of National Affairs, a private, Washington-based group that publishes legal, economic and other information for business, recently conducted a survey of 124 personnel executives to determine the impact of the act.

It concluded from the answers: "To date, OSHA's impact has been in the costs of protective equipment ('thousands of dollars on guard rails') and in the additional reports and record keeping to conform to government requirements.

"As far as any noticeable effect on safety performance is concerned, however, less than one quarter of the companies represented . . . indicate OSHA has had any impact on their safety record."

While laboring over OSHA's paperwork, retailers all across the country are concerned about another puzzle: Just what is the significance to them of all those houses that are being sold?

If you combine the sale of existing homes (call them resales if you prefer) with those for new homes, you come up with figures that have never been matched. During the cold first quarter, the annual rate was 4.3 million.

In the past, manufacturers and retailers of carpeting, draperies, appliances, furniture — even grass seed — could expect strong sales to follow a surge in housing, because those homes must be made liveable.

However, they are now being told by some economists that the consumer has already extended himself too far and probably won't want to — or maybe cannot — take on additional debt. He'll need to build savings instead.

They'll Do It Every Time

Leisure Wear Magnate Succumbs

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A memorial service will be held Saturday in St. Paul's Episcopal Church for Leonard W. Staples, who was credited with making H.D. Lee Co. of Kansas City one of the nation's top three makers of leisure wear.

Staples, whose home is in suburban Mission Hills, died Monday at his summer home at Indian Wells, Calif.

Staples, an Ohio native, had been ill and lived at Indian Wells most of the past year. He was 70 and retired from H. D. Lee in 1971 after being its president for 15 years.

When he became president, the division he came up in had concentrated on work clothing and uniforms. He felt there was a great market for leisure garments, and most of the company's growth in recent years has been in that field.

He was a past president of the American Apparel Association, Associated Industries of Missouri and the Missouri Public Expenditures Survey, a private agency which monitors state taxation and spending policies.

Although H. D. Lee once was as widely known as a wholesaler of fancy groceries, Staples always was in the clothing division.

He was born in Lima, Ohio, and received a bachelor's degree in business from Ohio State University in 1928. The same year, he joined H. D. Lee as a stock boy at its plant in Great Bend, Ind. An uncle then was the company's second president.

After heading sales in Ohio, Indiana and Wisconsin from a base at Cleveland, Staples moved to headquarters in Kansas City in 1935. He was manager of industrial sales from 1942 to 1952 and served as corporate secretary from then until he became president in 1956.

When he retired from that job, he was vice chairman for about seven months of V. F. Corp. of Reading, Pa., which had acquired H. D. Lee as a subsidiary.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, July 14th, the 195th day of 1977. There are 170 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1789, the people of Paris stormed and captured the Bastille. It was the beginning of the French Revolution.

On this date:

In 1879, Congress provided a yearly pension of $3,000 for President Abraham Lincoln's widow, Mary Todd Lincoln.

In 1958, Iraq's King Faisal II and his heir and the premier were assassinated in a coup in Baghdad.

In 1965, Ambassador Adlai Stevenson collapsed and died on a street in London.

In 1966, eight student nurses were slain in a Chicago apartment by 24-year-old Richard Speck.

In 1969, President Richard Nixon announced a national drive against the use of narcotics and asked Congress to enact heavier penalties for LSD and marijuana violations.

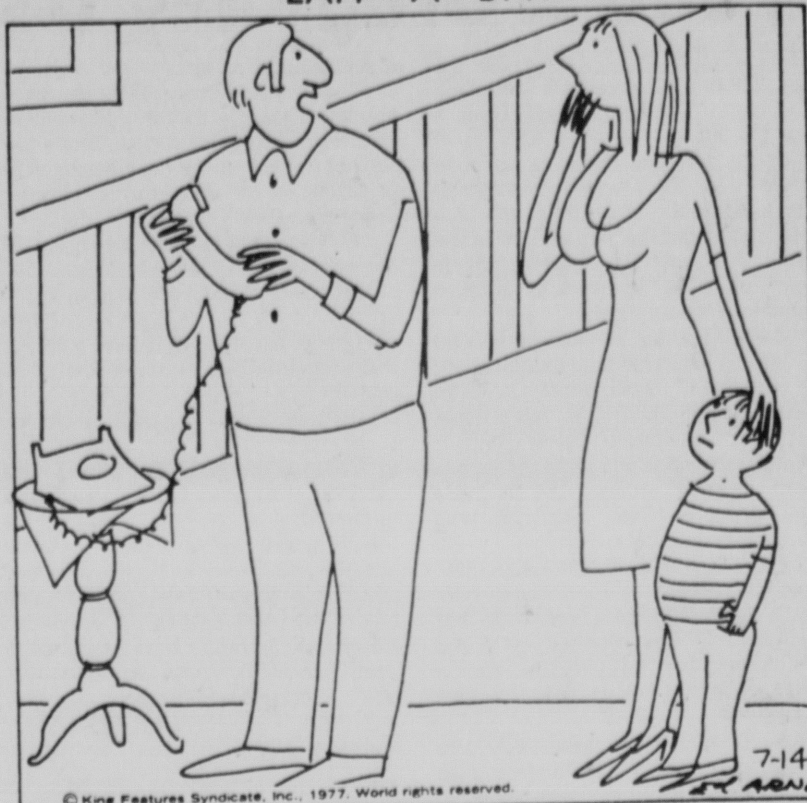

Ten years ago: The United Nations General Assembly adopted a resolution asking Israel to halt the action it was taking to alter the city of Jerusalem after the Six Day War.

Five years ago: In South Vietnam, there was fierce fighting around Quang Tri as South Vietnamese troops tried to recapture the city from Communist forces.

One year ago: Jimmy Carter won the Democratic nomination for President at the party's national convention in New York.

Today's birthdays: Former President Gerald Ford is 64. Writer Irving Stone is 74.

Thought for today: Revolutionary movements attract those who are not good enough for established institutions as well as those who are too good for them. — George Bernard Shaw, Irish-born writer who worked in Britain, 1856-1950.

Speaking Of Your Health

by Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I'm 78. Whenever I see my doctor I seem to get the brush-off with the statement that all my complaints are "vascular," and that nothing can be done about it. I can't believe this is true.

State Panel To Probe Prisons

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A committee of state lawmakers soon may be making inspection rounds of Ohio's prisons, and they also may decide to drop in unannounced at county and city jails.

The Senate went along 26-6 Tuesday with a House measure creating the eight-member panel. Its purpose would be to determine problems in Ohio's correctional system, and recommend administrative or legislative action to correct them.

A handful of senators objected to the idea, saying the state already has had at least five similar investigations with little being accomplished.

Sen. M. Ben Gaeth, R-1 Defiance, one of the opponents, questioned whether it would be safe for members of the legislature to go unannounced into maximum security areas. "I don't know who would want to go into these halls of iniquity without any protection," he said.

Under the legislation, which now returns to the House for consideration of Senate amendments, the committee would be made up of four representatives and four senators, equally divided between the major political parties. It would have to visit each of the seven state correctional institutions once a year. Visits to local institutions would be optional.

Sen. Thoms E. Carney, D-32 Girard, who sponsored the bill in the upper chamber, said the need for improvements in the system is obvious. For one thing, it contains 13,000 inmates, and was designed to handle a maximum number of 10,000, he said.

Carney also said the state is spending $4,475 a year on each inmate, about $400 more than it spends on a family of four receiving welfare benefits.

The committee also will look into such things as racism, brutality, denial of religious rights, and other problems, he said.

office and complained about a hearing loss. After examination, I said, "Yes, there is a slight loss of hearing, but you must remember that you're not getting any younger."

With great dignity and wisdom, she answered, "Getting younger, doctor, is not my problem. I just want to continue to get older."

This is, in essence, the cry in the wilderness of people who want to grow older gracefully and in good health.

I'm certain that your doctor did not mean that ALL of your complaints are vascular in origin. Yet, the narrowing of the blood vessels by arteriosclerosis is, in some degree, inevitable in the elderly. Our civilization, our food intake, the use of tobacco early in life, determines the extent of vascular disease as we get older.

There are now a great many accurate tests by which the blood vessels of the body can be studied. Special dyes, aortograms, and arteriograms can virtually outline every blood vessel in the body.

Some vascular diseases can be controlled, others cannot. When the diagnosis of vascular disease is established, the underlying causes are sought and, when possible, eradicated.

I tried to cut a corn on my toe. I cut it and it bled. Then I almost died of blood poisoning. Shouldn't people be warned about this?

Mr. B. T., Del.

Dear Mr. T.: Yes, and thanks for doing it. In these columns I have repeatedly emphasized that the cutting of corns or calluses, even with home-sterilized instruments, can be extremely dangerous.

This should be done only by a podiatrist or a chiropodist. They know exactly how deep to go without injuring the underlying tissue.

No matter how small a cut is, bacteria can invade the blood stream through this tiny wound if it is not properly sterilized.

You are fortunate that the antibiotics can now control blood poisoning, which formerly took so many lives.

A Page Of Opinion

Leisure Mores Changing

Togetherness — that much talked about, little understood ideal which crops up now and then — really doesn't exist. It may be reality in Zaire or Lower Aberdard, but it rubs against the grain in societies with continually rising standards of living.

Some idea of life in the future may be obtained by comparing social pursuits of the present with those in Granddad's day. Conversation was the biggest loser as households became smaller and visual entertainment replaced parlor games and evening visitations.

Perhaps other social forces in time will again promote companionship between families and communities. The twentieth century might be called the age of experimentation in coping with leisure.

As the newness of trying all manner of after-work diversionary activities wears off, more and more people may rediscover the endless enjoyment of associating with other two-legged creatures.

Contradictory though it may seem the opportunity for greater leisure carries an increasing responsibility to use it wisely. Otherwise, waste—both in enjoyment and social progress—often is the result.

Sandy's A Star

By PHYLLIS BATTELLE
NEW YORK — Never in the history of Broadway has there been a success story like his . . .

Sandy, the dog star of the award-winning musical "Annie," was huddled miserably in a cage at the rear of a room in The Connecticut Humane Society. Doom was written on his face. He was scheduled to be put to sleep the next morning.

Suddenly a 26-year-old man named Bill Berloni walked into that room. Dozens of assembled canines began to bark at him, demanding attention. But Berloni was looking for a "star," and his gaze fell upon Sandy and, in a moment considerably more poignant than the day a talent scout discovered Lana Turner in a sweater at Schwab's Pharmacy, Berloni murmured quietly, "I want that dog."

"I felt so sorry for this poor, pitiful looking thing. He just looked up at me with the most defeated eyes I've ever seen. At the time, I was studying to be a starving actor — and, in the eyes of this dog, I saw an animal who'd already made the grade."

An official of the Humane Society said Berloni would have to act fast, if he wanted to buy him, because D-day was the following morning. Berloni had no money on him, and pleaded for a stay of extermination. "If you can come back real early before we open in the morning, with the money, you can have him."

The next morning at dawn Berloni took off for the Humane Society, bought Sandy for $10, took him back to the Goodspeed Opera House in East Haddam, Conn., washed and blew dry his scruffy coat, and meekly presented him to the staff and cast of the musical.

"Everybody immediately wanted to hug him, and that terrified Sandy even more," remembers Berloni. "There was like a staff of 70 people who wanted to kiss him, and Sandy just shrank and whimpered."

And so a star was born, before anybody even knew whether he could say "Arf" like Sandy.

Sandy, the dog of indeterminate origin, though he appears to have his roots in Irish wolfhound and perhaps airedale, is now the most celebrated performer in the most celebrated show on Broadway. Fans cluster outside the stage door at the Alvin Theatre every night and matinee afternoon hoping for just a glance from his still-pitiful big brown eyes, and when Bill Berloni takes him walking — along with his understudy, a more distinguishable (predominately Irish setter) mutt named "Arf" — in Central Park, people are constantly rushing forward to pat his back for a great performance.

"It's hazardous, almost," says the good-looking young Berloni, who has had to put his own acting career in the background as he trains and tends his hot box office attraction. "Sandy and Arf are just normal dogs. They like to chase squirrels and pee on fire hydrants. But people are coming up to them all the time, and it scares Sandy. I don't know what his background was before he was brought to the pound, but I feel he really was abused."

Berloni estimates that the play could run seven or eight years, and that Sandy will stick with it: he has a run-of-play contract, and is believed to be only about two years old now. "Arf," the understudy, has never had to fill in for Sandy, and Berloni dreads the night that might be necessary. "This dog," he says, pointing to a snoozing Sandy, "is so mellow. But this dog" — pointing to Arf, who is racing down a corridor — "bounces off the walls. Arf picked up the tricks in half the time it took me to train Sandy, but he's young. Only about a year old. I'm afraid he might take a plop on stage."

According to Berloni, Sandy is far from perfection as an actor. "He's so relaxed that sometimes he falls asleep on stage. Other times, he licks himself in an embarrassing spot. Some nights he'll be ornery and during the curtain calls, he'll turn his back on the audience and sit down. We had to perform in the East Room at the White House, and he took offense at the portrait of Martha Washington and just started barking at her."

"But I think the thing that's going for Sandy is that I'm not a professional dog trainer — I don't know enough to train him to be a robot. So he goes up a lot. And the audience loves that. When he does something that's really doggyish, they think it's wonderful. The audiences know that he's not a brilliant, trained dog. He's a mutt who's fudging it . . ."

Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — In the two months following Independence Day, when the days are humid and customers are vacationing, the cares of business sometimes take a sista.

This little midsummer nap of buyer and seller often appears clearly in the mix of retail sales, in the number of corporate announcements, in business decisions postponed, in the pace of stock market activity.

One day this week an oldtime broker on the floor of the New York Stock Exchange was sitting at his post, knees crossed, the daily newspaper crossword puzzle occupying his attention.

But the sometimes dull days of summer do not mean businessmen cease worrying. Not everything is put off until labor day. No, they ponder, for example, what is to become of OSHA. And they busy themselves with its paperwork.

OSHA is the Occupational Safety and Health Act of 1970, and according to some of its many critics, it has brought more harassment to business than safety and health to workers.

The Bureau of National Affairs, a private, Washington-based group that publishes legal, economic and other information for business, recently conducted a survey of 124 personnel executives to determine the impact of the act.

It concluded from the answers: "To date, OSHA's impact has been in the costs of protective equipment ('thousands of dollars on guard rails') and in the additional reports and record keeping to conform to government requirements.

"As far as any noticeable effect on safety performance is concerned, however, less than one quarter of the companies represented . . . indicate OSHA has had any impact on their safety record."

While laboring over OSHA's paperwork, retailers all across the country are concerned about another puzzle: Just what is the significance to them of all those houses that are being sold?

If you combine the sale of existing homes (call them resales if you prefer) with those for new homes, you come up with figures that have never been matched. During the cold first quarter, the annual rate was 4.3 million.

In the past, manufacturers and retailers of carpeting, draperies, appliances, furniture — even grass seed — could expect strong sales to follow a surge in housing, because those homes must be made livable.

However, they are now being told by some economists that the consumer has already extended himself too far and probably won't want to — or maybe cannot — take on additional debt. He'll need to build savings instead.

Leisure Wear Magnate Succumbs

KANSAS CITY (AP) — A memorial service will be held Saturday in St. Paul's Episcopal Church for Leonard W. Staples, who was credited with making H.D. Lee Co. of Kansas City one of the nation's top three makers of leisure wear.

Staples, whose home is in suburban Mission Hills, died Monday at his summer home at Indian Wells, Calif.

Staples, an Ohio native, had been ill and lived at Indian Wells most of the past year. He was 70 and retired from H. D. Lee in 1971 after being its president for 15 years.

When he became president, the division he came up in had concentrated on work clothing and uniforms. He felt there was a great market for leisure garments, and most of the company's growth in recent years has been in that field.

He was a past president of the American Apparel Association, Associated Industries of Missouri and the Missouri Public Expenditures Survey, a private agency which monitors state taxation and spending policies.

Although H. D. Lee once was as widely known as a wholesaler of fancy groceries, Staples always was in the clothing division.

He was born at Lima, Ohio, and received a bachelor's degree in business from Ohio State University in 1928. The same year, he joined H. D. Lee as a stock boy at its plant in Great Bend, Ind. An uncle then was the company's second president.

After heading sales in Ohio, Indiana and Wisconsin from a base at Cleveland, Staples moved to headquarters in Kansas City in 1935. He was manager of industrial sales from 1942 to 1952 and served as corporate secretary from then until he became president in 1956.

When he retired from that job, he was vice chairman for about seven months of V. F. Corp. of Reading, Pa., which had acquired H. D. Lee as a subsidiary.

Today In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Thursday, July 14th, the 195th day of 1977. There are 170 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history:

On this date in 1789, the people of Paris stormed and captured the Bastille. It was the beginning of the French Revolution.

On this date:

In 1879, Congress provided a yearly pension of $3,000 for President Abraham Lincoln's widow, Mary Todd Lincoln.

In 1958, Iraq's King Faisal II and his heir and the premier were assassinated in a coup in Baghdad.

In 1965, Ambassador Adlai Stevenson collapsed and died on a street in London.

In 1966, eight student nurses were slain in a Chicago apartment by 24-year-old Richard Speck.

In 1969, President Richard Nixon announced a national drive against the use of narcotics and asked Congress to enact heavier penalties for LSD and marijuana violations.

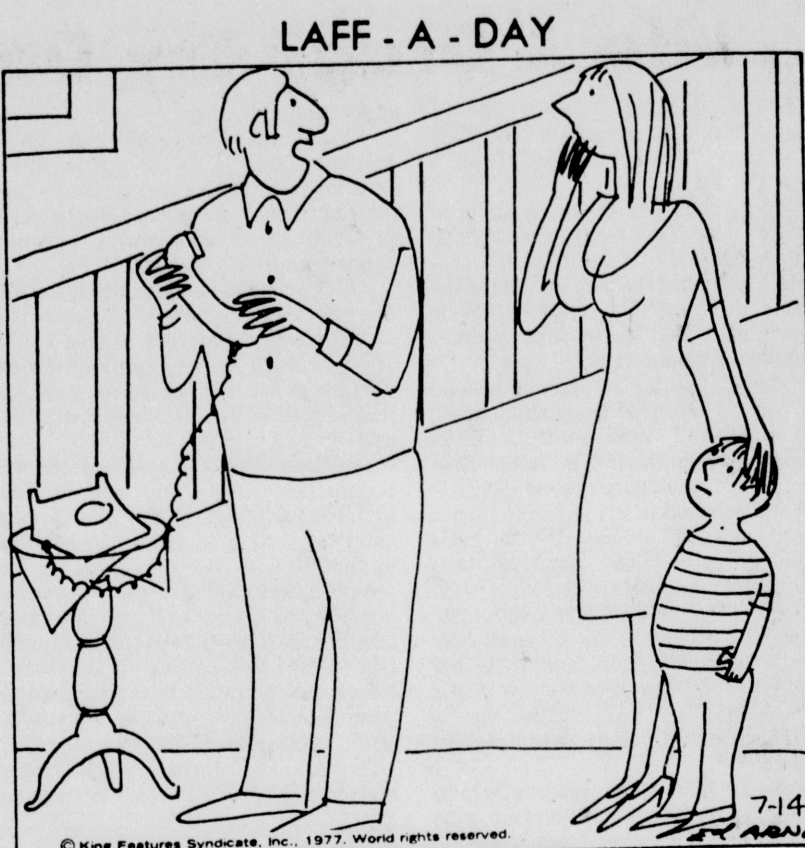

Ten years ago: The United Nations General Assembly adopted a resolution asking Israel to halt the action it was taking to alter the city of Jerusalem after the Six Day War.

Five years ago: In South Vietnam, there was fierce fighting around Quang Tri as South Vietnamese troops tried to recapture the city from Communist forces.

One year ago: Jimmy Carter won the Democratic nomination for President at the party's national convention in New York.

Today's birthdays: Former President Gerald Ford is 64. Writer Irving Stone is 74.

Thought for today: Revolutionary movements attract those who are not good enough for established institutions as well as those who are too good for them. — George Bernard Shaw, Irish-born writer who worked in Britain, 1856-1950.

Speaking Of Your Health

office and complained about a hearing loss. After examination, I said, "Yes, there is a slight loss of hearing, but you must remember that you're not getting any younger."

With great dignity and wisdom, she answered, "Getting younger, doctor, is not my problem. I just want to continue to get older."

State Panel To Probe Prisons

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A committee of state lawmakers soon may be making inspection rounds of Ohio's prisons, and they also may decide to drop in unannounced at county and city jails.

The Senate went along 26-6 Tuesday with a House measure creating the eight-member panel. Its purpose would be to determine problems in Ohio's correctional system, and recommend administrative or legislative action to correct them.

A handful of senators objected to the idea, saying the state already has had at least five similar investigations with little being accomplished.

Sen. M. Ben Gaeth, R-1 Defiance, one of the opponents, questioned whether it would be safe for members of the legislature to go unannounced into maximum security areas. "I don't know who would want to go into these halls of iniquity without any protection," he said.

Under the legislation, which now returns to the House for consideration of Senate amendments, the committee would be made up of four representatives and four senators, equally divided between the major political parties. It would have to visit each of the seven state correctional institutions once a year. Visits to local institutions would be optional.

Sen. Thoms E. Carney, D-32 Girard, who sponsored the bill in the upper chamber, said the need for improvements in the system is obvious. For one thing, it contains 13,000 inmates, and was designed to handle a maximum number of 10,000, he said.

Carney also said the state is spending $4,475 a year on each inmate, about $400 more than it spends on a family of four receiving welfare benefits.

The committee also will look into such things as racism, brutality, denial of religious rights, and other problems, he said.

This is, in essence, the cry in the wilderness of people who want to grow older gracefully and in good health.

I'm certain that your doctor did not mean that ALL of your complaints are vascular in origin. Yet, the narrowing of the blood vessels by arteriosclerosis is, in some degree, inevitable in the elderly. Our civilization, our food intake, the use of tobacco early in life, determines the extent of vascular disease as we get older.

There are now a great many accurate tests by which the blood vessels of the body can be studied. Special dyes, aortograms, and arteriograms can virtually outline every blood vessel in the body.

Some vascular diseases can be controlled, others cannot. When the diagnosis of vascular disease is established, the underlying causes are sought and, when possible, eradicated.

I tried to cut a corn on my toe. I cut it and it bled. Then I almost died of blood poisoning. Shouldn't people be warned about this?

Mr. B. T., Del.

Dear Mr. T.: Yes, and thanks for doing it. In these columns I have repeatedly emphasized that the cutting of corns or calluses, even with home-sterilized instruments, can be extremely dangerous.

This should be done only by a podiatrist or a chiropodist. They know exactly how deep to go without injuring the underlying tissue.

No matter how small a cut is, bacteria can invade the blood stream through this tiny wound if it is not properly sterilized.

You are fortunate that the antibiotics can now control blood poisoning, which formerly took so many lives.

Banks Reach Agreement In Principle

William N. Liggett, chairman and chief executive officer, First National Cincinnati Corporation, announced that agreement in principle has been reached for the acquisition of the $26 million asset The Third National Bank, Circleville.

In making the announcement, Liggett noted the similarity in philosophy and banking principles of that bank and First National Cincinnati Corporation. He said, "We are pleased to strengthen and extend our long standing relationship with this banking institution."

The agreement in principle is subject to a definitive agreement between the parties; approval of shareholders of The Third National Bank, Circleville, and by regulatory authorities. A favorable ruling by the Internal Revenue Service may be necessary. Details of the transaction will be revealed to shareholders of The Third National Bank in a proxy statement to be issued for their approval.

Kenneth F. Fosnaugh, president, The Third National Bank, Circleville, indicated his pleasure in the new relationship. Mr. Fosnaugh said, "In face of the growing complexities and technological changes in the banking business today and with more intense regulatory requirements, the leadership of the holding company will give added strength to our bank."

The $1,105 billion asset The First National Bank of Cincinnati is the holding company's bank. Other subsidiaries of the holding company are the $30 million asset The Miami Deposit Bank, Yellow Springs, Ohio, the $83 million asset The First National Bank & Trust Company, Troy, Ohio, and the $76 million asset The First National Bank of Ironton, Ironton.

Cincinnati Man Faces Charges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cincinnati man arrested during the club-swinging, Fourth of July Ku Klux Klan rally on the Statehouse steps was bound over to Franklin County Common Pleas Court Tuesday on two felony charges.

George Preston, 29, appeared before Franklin County Municipal Court Judge Sidney Golden on charges of inciting to violence and felonious assault. No trial date was set.

In binding Preston over to the higher court, Judge Golden continued to allow him his freedom on a personal recognizance bond.

Preston also pleaded innocent to a misdemeanor charge of disrupting a lawful meeting and requested a jury trial in municipal court.

time on Aug. 7.

This past Sunday Benis Lutz, Lay-Leader of the Village Church gave the message and the guest soloist was Ed Groff, a member of the Washington Avenue Church in Columbus and a teacher in the Walnut Township School.

A reception honoring the Rev. and Mrs. John Currans and their family will be held on Sunday, July 17 at the Zion United Methodist Church at 1 p.m. This will be a carry-in dinner and will be held in the social room of the church.

It's time we thanked some people for their help on the Station. Thanks to everyone that has offered to help paint the building. It will probably be near the end of August before we will have the outside ready to paint.

Thanks to Jane Wilson and her family for offering to pre-stain the new outside deck boards. Thanks to Paul Anderson for offering to help glaze in the new window glass, we could use a couple more people to help with this. The new sashes are being prepared by Celler Lumber Co. By the way, Paul donated some stepping stones.

Ernestine Craig and Bill Cook donated all of the window glass, which the Ashville Hardware will cut to fit. The Dolph Remys, Verda Williamson, the George Nungesters and the Stanley Stouts donated paving brick and brick for a new chimney. Thanks to Herbie Wellington for offering to do cement work.

Teddy Bickers will be hauling away the trash — we really appreciate that. Greg Groves will handle the clean-up around the building, moving the old tin out of the way. Thanks to the "phantom mower" for keeping the grass down. Thanks to Tim Triance, David Hinkle, Bill Hines, Larry Toole, Rodger Southward, Kevin Reid, Guy Cline, Jr., Bob Hines and Glen Cline for working on the roof and insulating under the building.

Thanks to Duey Braskella for donating some 4x4 posts. To Charles Dean Morrison and Bill Welsh for stacking the lumber and to Rodger Southward and Steve Pusey for hauling it. A big thanks to Smith Dodson Lumber Co. for donating interior paint and the paint for the station restoration sign.

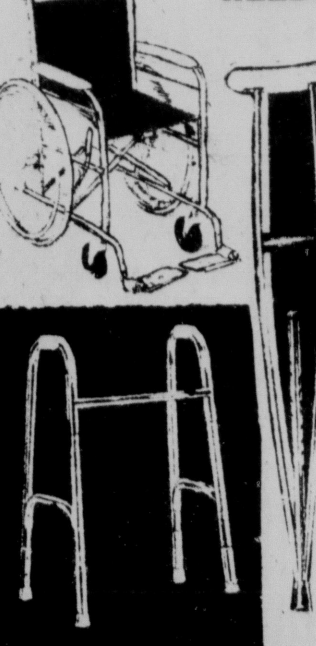

We would especially like to thank all of the community groups, individuals and businesses that have donated money for this community project. The restoration fund is being handled by the Community Club, c-o Bill Welsh, Treasurer. We could certainly use more money to buy new doors and other items.

When they were tearing off the old tin roof, Rodger Southward accidentally dropped his tin snips. They fell between the roof slats into an attic space. He found the tin snips and a number of other things. There was an old coal bucket, a railroad lantern, a railroad flag, Scioto Valley Railway excursion tickets, bills, and papers, all from the 1880's, a whiskey bottle, a Hosner beer bottle, a mason jar dated 1858, old shoes, straps and other assorted things.

Starting this week, we will have a work night every Thursday, after 6:30 p.m. We ask that you bring a hammer, or a paint scrapper with you. There are plenty of things to do to help out.

The Rev. Howard (Bud) Allison of the South Bloomfield Methodist Church charge has been appointed as the pastor of the Methodist Church in Manchester, Ohio, which is located near the Ohio River. This Sunday will be the last time for the Rev. Allison to preach at South Bloomfield. He will be in the pulpit at Manchester for the first time on July 24 and the family will be moving to their new home on July 26.

Christy Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Williams of Ringgold and Carla Ramsay, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Ramsay, left June 24 to spend the summer in Mexico City. They are staying with the Noriega family with whom they have been friends for five years. The girls' address while in Mexico is Anade No. B Las Arboledas, Atizapan de Zaragoza, Edo de Mexico.

Jose and Anselmo Noriega are spending the summer with the Williams family. The Williams family will be vacationing in Mexico during the month of August at which time they will take Jose and Anselmo to their home in Mexico City and return Christy and Carla to Ashville.

In the printing of the winners in the Baked Goods Display at the 4th of July Celebration there were two mistakes. Linda Acord received the Best of Show in the Yeast Breads Division and Audrey Harvey received second place in the nut bread category.

The Ashville Kiwanis Club members are now selling tickets for the July 27 Columbus Clippers baseball game. They would like to have quite a representation of Ashville Community people at the game that evening, hoping for over 200 residents. You can purchase your tickets from any member of the club.

Grace Selkow will be the guest soloist at the 9:15 a.m. Worship Service at First English Lutheran Church this Sunday. She has appeared with the Columbus Symphony Ensemble, appeared on television and with various choruses and choirs.

Guest organist at the service will be Karen Sue (Dum) Darby.

Eric Frazier was honored on his fifth birthday with a party at his home on Sunday afternoon. Ice cream and cake was enjoyed by all and games were played by the children.

Children attending the party were Michelle Adams, Erin Hoover, Joel Hoover, Sean Ward, William Spires and Jimmy Howard.

Other guests were Carol Adams, Nancy Ball, Joe Hoover, Jr., Dorothy Hoover, Jackie Howard, Debbie Hoover, Lisa Ball, Sonya Ruggles, Karen Ward, Betty Rummer, Kim Aldenderfer, Mike Mets, Esta Hudson and Eric's mother, Vivian Frazier.

Holly Pettibone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Pettibone of South Bloomfield and Kevin Frazier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Carl Frazier of Grove City, were married in the South Bloomfield United Methodist Church on July 24 at 7:30 p.m.

A family dinner was held at the country home of Jim and Nancy Parkison on June 10. Those attending were Johnny, Connie Kuyhendoll, Kert and Kent of Luling, Texas; Bill and Linda Stewart, Barbie, Billy and Kevin Arehart, Floyd and Ruth Stewart and Kay, Craig and Sherrie Jackson, Jon and Becky Stewart, Larry and Bonnie Starcher, Angie and Steve, Doug and Lynette Newman, John and Edith Mae Stewart all of Sabina;

Sheldon and Nancy Shultz, Gary and Lynn Jackson of Columbus; Tom and Susan Sampson and Angela of Ringgold; Richard and Darlene Jackson and Ronda, Bill and Virginia Jackson of Ashville; Verna and Kenneth Lansen of Greenfield. A good time was had by all.

The Rev. Kenneth Marckel has been appointed as the pastor for the Village and Hedges Chapel United Methodist Churches. He is coming to Ashville from the South Salem Circuit near Greenfield.

The Rev. Marckel and his family will be moving into the parsonage on Aug. 2 and he will be preaching for the first time on Aug. 7.

This past Sunday Benis Lutz, Lay-Leader of the Village Church gave the message and the guest soloist was Ed Groff, a member of the Washington Avenue Church in Columbus and a teacher in the Walnut Township School.

A reception honoring the Rev. and Mrs. John Currens and their family will be held on Sunday, July 17 at the Zion United Methodist Church at 1 p.m. This will be a carry-in dinner and will be held in the social room of the church.

It's time we thanked some people for their help on the Station. Thanks to everyone that has offered to help paint the building. It will probably be near the end of August before we will have the outside ready to paint.

Thanks to Jane Wilson and her family for offering to pre-stain the new outside deck boards. Thanks to Paul Anderson for offering to help glaze in the new window glass, we could use a couple more people to help with this. The new sashes are being prepared by Cellar Lumber Co. By the way, Paul donated some stepping stones.

Ernestine Craig and Bill Cook donated all of the window glass, which the Ashville Hardware will cut to fit. The Dolph Remys, Verda Williamson, the George Nungesters and the Stanley Stouts donated paving brick and brick for a new chimney. Thanks to Herbie Wellington for offering to do cement work.

Teddy Bickers will be hauling away the trash — we really appreciate that. Greg Groves will handle the clean-up around the building, moving the old tin out of the way. Thanks to the "phantom mower" for keeping the grass down. Thanks to Tim Triance, David Hinkle, Bill Hines, Larry Toole, Rodger Southward, Kevin Reid, Guy Cline, Jr., Bob Hines and Glen Cline for working on the roof and insulating under the building.

Thanks to Duey Braskella for donating some 4x4 posts. To Charles Dean Morrison and Bill Welsh for stacking the lumber and to Rodger Southward and Steve Pusey for hauling it. A big thanks to Smith Dodson Lumber Co. for donating interior paint and the paint for the station restoration sign.

We would especially like to thank all of the community groups, individuals and businesses that have donated money for this community project. The restoration fund is being handled by the Community Club, c/o Bill Welsh, Treasurer. We could certainly use more money to buy new doors and other items.

When they were tearing off the old tin roof, Rodger Southward accidentally dropped his tin snips. They fell between the roof slats into an attic space. He found the tin snips and a number of other things. There was an old coal bucket, a railroad lantern, a railroad flag, Scioto Valley Railway excursion tickets, bills, and papers, all from the 1880's, a whiskey bottle, a Hosner beer bottle, a mason jar dated 1858, old shoes, straps and other assorted things.

Cincinnati Man Faces Charges

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A Cincinnati man arrested during the club-swinging, Fourth of July Ku Klux Klan rally on the Statehouse steps was bound over to Franklin County Common Pleas Court Tuesday on two felony charges.

George Preston, 29, appeared before Franklin County Municipal Court Judge Sidney Golden on charges of inciting to violence and felonious assault. No trial date was set.

In binding Preston over to the higher court, Judge Golden continued to allow him his freedom on a personal recognizance bond.

Preston also pleaded innocent to a misdemeanor charge of disrupting a lawful meeting and requested a jury trial in municipal court.

LEMON SOY CHICKEN

So easy to make and so successful!
3½-pound roasting chicken, cut up
¼ cup fresh lemon juice
¼ cup soy sauce
2 tablespoons sugar
1 large clove garlic, crushed
1-inch fresh ginger root, peeled and minced (1 tablespoon)

Wash and dry chicken. In a 13½ by 8¾ or by 1¼-inch (3-quart) glass baking dish or similar utensil stir together the lemon juice, soy sauce, sugar, garlic and ginger until sugar dissolves. Arrange chicken in a single layer, skin side up, in the dish. Cover tightly with foil. Bake in a preheated 400-degree oven, basting midway, until tender — 40 to 60 minutes. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

By EILEEN EASTERDAY, Phone 986-3481

I keep trying to psyche myself into cool thoughts but man, there just "ain't" no way to come on top of this. It seems to me that the air conditioning is even tossing out more warm air than cool. I'm ready right now for a '77 winter re-run---without the ice covered roads.

Last week sweltering in the high heat wasn't enough I had to "come down" with a nasty sore throat and general flu symptoms. All together now let's have a pity party for the poor soul---ahhh!

It was a happy week for Una Higman because her granddaughter Peggy Armentrout of Fremont and a friend Kelly Rinkley stopped in to visit. The girls had been on vacation in Tennessee and returning home plans included time with grandmother.

Our neighbor Emma Puffinbarger has been busier than busy these past couple of weeks. To begin with a bridal shower of granddaughter Jonda Steinhauser was held in her home with Mrs. George Group, Mrs. Tom DeSantis and Karin all of Springfield as hostesses. Invited guests were relatives of the bride-to-be. Gifts were received from Mrs. J.R. Baney of Westerville, Mrs. John Steinhauser of Circleville, Miss Lucile Bevan and Mrs. Richard Banks of Columbus, Mrs. Bernard Steinhauser of Clarksburg, Mrs. Robert Peck, Carol and Paul, Mrs. Dwight Shaeffer and Luann all of New Holland area.

Mrs. Arthur "Bus" Whitten, Mrs. Donald Steinhauser, Mrs. Robert Shaeffer, Mrs. Glen Shaeffer, Mrs. Joe Barthen and Mrs. Noah List of the Williamsport locale. Unable to be

Our Deercreek Dam Days Queen Becky Wolford and Junior Queen Sherry Bowling were in Canal Fulton on Sunday for the Canal Days Festival. The queens were thrilled to have the opportunity to ride an honest to goodness canal boat towed by mules as it was done in yesteryear. The report is that the Canal Days festival is truly terrific. Sunday's canal parade included many boats decorated in the manner that local festivals decorate floats. This is quite a lovely sight I understand. Our queens will be on the road again this weekend traveling to the Pottery Festival and to the Green Country Fair for parades on Saturday

Nellie (Mrs. Joe) Wright headed out for Terre Haute, Indiana early Tuesday a.m. She will meet daughter Judy Fuller, her hubby Carl and their youngsters Jason and Christine Renee who are coming in from Colorado. Carl has been assigned new duties and training in one of the southern states (North Carolina, I think). Anyhow, during this time Judy and the little ones will be with Nellie and Joe.

We have enjoyed having Everett Moore and Dick Barton for Sunday afternoon chatting and the planning of a fish fry to be held in early August at the Bartons home near Sedalia. Prior to Papa Bill's accident it was an annual summer tradition for quite a gang to get together at least once. Papa Bill does the chef's honors with an enormous skillet of World War I vintage. My sister Norma and her spouse John Gillfillan and one of their images Norwood (better known by family as Sudds) of near Piqua made the scene for a rap session.

Paul and Maxine Ward of Huntington, West Virginia surprised us with a visit Sunday afternoon. Paul is one of Papa Bill's deer hunting buddies so there is no question what one of the topics of conversation was about. The Wards are antique enthusiasts, too, so we took great pride in showing off our recently refinished cupboard. The work was done by Patty and Woody Reed. The cupboard was the one Grandma Smiley had used in housekeeping for many years.

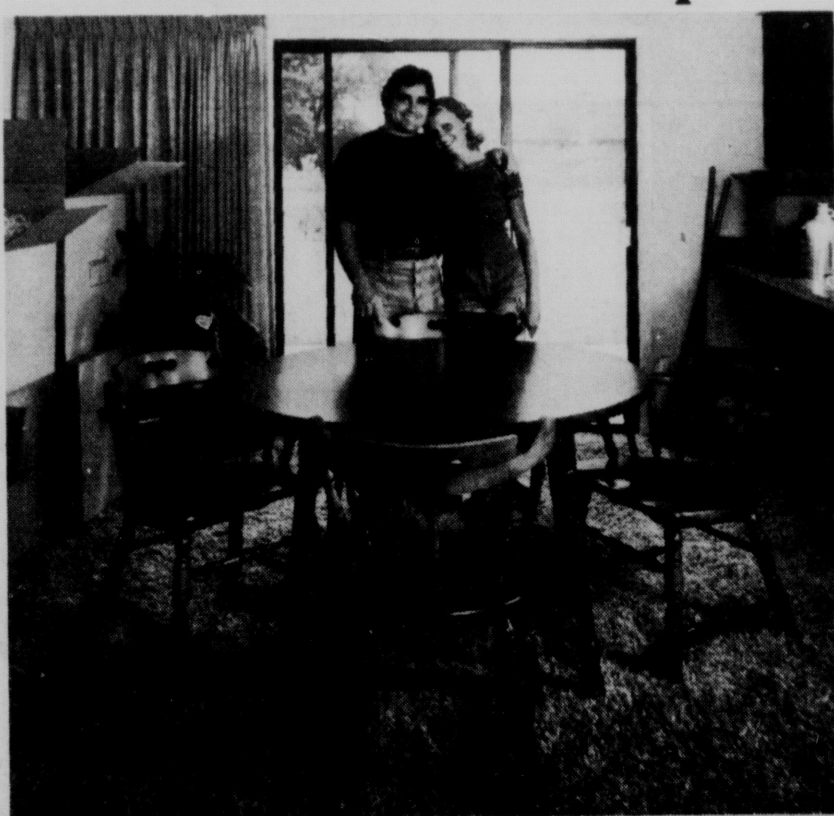

Mike and Marsha McCafferty and girls are home from a Florida vacation. Give you the "all" next week.

The newest discussion for our town is the fact that Sheryl's Restaurant will be under new management beginning Aug. 1. The Butterfly Diner with George and Marilyn Lemaster as new owners will be offering palate pleasing creations for one and all. More details as the grand opening date gets nearer. Now for the answers to the two most asked questions---yes, Marilyn will give up her bus driving and no, George plans no changes. These answers are sanctioned.

For those who may think otherwise let us keep the record straight that it is indeed a rare occasion that we print without prior knowledge nor do we talk about many things we are privy to. There are such exciting things to be done and so little time to do them in that indulging in idle gossip is too time consuming and boring. A good juicy news item, now that's a different story!

Utilities Face Consumer Push

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio gas utilities are under pressure on two fronts to give more help to customers who try to help themselves meet energy demands.

"Lack of interest in self-help programs by some distributors (utilities) has limited the possible sources of supply to customers of their service area," a Senate Energy and Public Utilities Committee has reported.

The staff report gave poor marks to three major gas companies. A fourth, East Ohio Gas Co., was "very cooperative with local industries in working out self help programs," but its charges were excessive, the report noted.

"The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio should establish statewide rates for self-help gas transportation at a reasonable percentage above statewide average cost of production," the committee recommended.

Gov. James A. Rhodes' special committee on self-help gas has also attempted to deal with the availability of pipelines to carry the gas.

The program is based on the premise that companies which drill their own wells can arrange with the utility company in their vicinity to use a pipeline to transport the colorless, odorless fuel.

But intrastate lines are not always available so Rhodes has pressed for use of federally-controlled interstate lines.

It is not known whether the Federal Power Commission will intervene, but two companies have started sending their own gas through interstate lines.

Columbia Gas of Ohio generally charges self-help customers for use of pipelines, based on cost. East Ohio, the only other utility significantly involved in self-help programs, claims 25 per cent of the gas produced as its fee.

Although PUCO figures show that Columbia has 94 of the 112 approved self-help contracts in the state, the Senate committee report charged the utility "was not aggressive in promoting self-help programs."

Marvin White, board chairman at Columbia, testified during the committee's probe that "Columbia of Ohio is dedicated to maximum use of self-help gas. Columbia virtually invented the self-help concept."

"Columbia Gas Transmission pipeline has refused to transport self-help gas," the report said, "and, in fact, the Columbia System not only does not promote Ohio intrastate selfhelp gas but also considers selfhelp gas as competition for its own supply."

Cincinnati Gas & Electric Co. and Dayton Power and Light Co. were the other firms admonished to undertake aggressive self-help programs for industrial and commercial customers. Both utilities say they are hampered by lack of productive wells in western Ohio.

I keep trying to psyche myself into cool thoughts but man, there just "ain't" no way to come on top of this. It seems to me that the air conditioning is even tossing out more warm air than cool. I'm ready right now for a '77 winter re-run—without the ice covered roads.

Last week sweltering in the high heat wasn't enough I had to "come down" with a nasty sore throat and general flu symptoms. All together now let's have a pity party for the poor soul—ahhh!

It was a happy week for Una Higman because her granddaughter Peggy Armentrout of Fremont and a friend Kelly Rinkley stopped in to visit. The girls had been on vacation in Tennessee and returning home plans included time with grandmother.

Our neighbor Emma Puffinbarger has been busier than busy these past couple of weeks. To begin with a bridal shower of granddaughter Jonda Steinhauser was held in her home with Mrs. George Group, Mrs. Tom DeSantis and Karin all of Springfield as hostesses. Invited guests were relatives of the bride-to-be. Gifts were received from Mrs. J.R. Baney of Westerville, Mrs. John Steinhauser of Circleville, Miss Lucile Bevan and Mrs. Richard Banks of Columbus, Mrs. Bernard Steinhauser of Clarksburg, Mrs. Robert Peck, Carol and Paul, Mrs. Dwight Shaeffer and Luann all of New Holland area.

Mrs. Arthur "Bus" Whitten, Mrs. Donald Steinhauser, Mrs. Robert Shaeffer, Mrs. Glen Shaeffer, Mrs. Joe Barthen and Mrs. Noah List of the Williamsport locale. Unable to be

THE PROPHET — The one-eyed Shawnee Prophet Tenskwtawwa, Tecumseh's younger brother is played by Robert Van den Berg in the outdoor drama, "Tecumseh!"

Actor Portrays Prophet In Drama

Versatility is the key to Robert Van den Berg's success in his portrayal of the diabolically fierce Shawnee "Prophet", Tenskwtawwa, in "Tecumseh!", America's most popular outdoor drama.

Tecumseh leaves his younger brother, Tenskwtawwa, as acting Chief while he travels among the Indian nations forming a confederation of 50,000 warriors to confront the Whites.

Known as the Prophet by his people, Tenskwtawwa merely voices Tecumseh's clairvoyant predictions. This power overcomes Tenskwtawwa and he begins to view himself as a true prophet and the real Shawnee Chief. In direct violation of Tecumseh's orders, he leads the Shawnees in a disastrously premature attack on General William Henry Harrison at Tippecanoe.

Van den Berg is a particularly versatile actor tracing Tenskwtawwa's growth from a young, impetuous buck eagerly awaiting his first tribal conference, to a cold calculating chief, obsessed with power.

A member of Actors' Equity Association, Van den Berg's credits include such off-Broadway shows as "Caligula", "Easy Outs" and "Macbeth". His film credits include "Pink Panther Strikes Again", "The

Clock Collecting Labor Of Love

CLEVELAND HEIGHTS, Ohio (AP) — Joseph E. Martines loves clocks. "I can't think of any other field that has inspired more ingenuity, innovation and inventive genius than the making of timepieces," Martines says. Beginning with a small boy's typical interest—and disaster—Martines came to be not only a clock fancier but a repairman, collector and dealer in antique pieces. He also distributes a newsletter to 500 other collectors.

"I like to think that in most cases I don't sell a clock, I 'place' it," Martines says. "A lot of people these days can afford fine old clocks but really don't appreciate them. I like to know that the people I do business with thoroughly appreciate and will give a good home to the clocks they purchase."

He was about 12 when curiosity about the family alarm clock caused it to explode in his hands. "I didn't know you had to take the tension off the spring before you disassembled the movement," he recalls.

He was just looking and admiring when he began exploring antique shops

Ohio Panel On Aging Sets Hearing

The Ohio Commission on Aging will hold a Public Hearing Tuesday from 1-4 p.m. at the Fawcett Center for Tomorrow, 2400 Olentangy River Road, Columbus. At this hearing the Ohio Commission on Aging will explain how it plans to use federal funds during the fiscal year beginning October 1, 1977 for programs and services for older persons.

Of special interest will be the amounts of federal money to be used in the Central Ohio area. The Central Ohio Area Agency on Aging is encouraging attendance at this hearing for agency representatives, organizations, and older persons.

In order to allow full access for comments on the plan, the Commission has arranged to have the hearing carried live on public television stations. WOSU will carry it for Central Ohio. Collect long-distance telephone calls will be accepted during the hearing from those who are viewing the program and wish to express their comments. The telephone number is 614-422-9953. The local television viewing will be at the Presbyterian Church.

Anyone wishing a summary of the state plan objectives prior to the hearing may obtain them at the Ohio Commission on Aging, 50 W. Broad Street, Columbus.

because he had no money. "But as time went on, purely by long observation I began to recognize the good from the bad, the jewels from the junk. You automatically begin to note detail in glass, furniture and clocks and differentiate the unusual from the usual."

His wife, Peggy, was responsible for his acquiring one of his noteworthy items, an elegant grandfather's clock priced at $700. He was a Cleveland school teacher at the time and put off looking at it in the shop because he knew he might fall in love with it despite the lack of money.

At last he put down $50 without the foggiest notion where he would get the rest but knowing that he would somehow. Ultimately he sold one of their two cars to pay for it.

"That's pretty much the philosophy you have to follow to acquire things you simply can't live without," he says.

"I probably know more about clock-makers of the last century than anybody in the country, because I made it my business," he says. "I can look at a clock and tell you what parts have been replaced and, in most cases, who made the replacement parts."

"A fine old clock is really the combining of many skills," Martines says. "The maker of the movement was rarely involved in any phase but that. Somebody else painted and decorated the face or dial, other artists did the reverse-painting-on-glass on the lower part of the doors. Still other specialists produced the wooden cases."

THE PROPHET — The one-eyed Shawnee Prophet Tenskwtawwa, Tecumseh's younger brother is played by Robert Van den Berg in the outdoor drama, "Tecumseh!"

Actor Portrays Prophet In Drama

Versatility is the key to Robert Van den Berg's success in his portrayal of the diabolically fierce Shawnee "Prophet", Tenskwtawwa, in "Tecumseh!", America's most popular outdoor drama.

Tecumseh leaves his younger brother, Tenskwtawwa, as acting Chief while he travels among the Indian nations forming a confederation of 50,000 warriors to confront the Whites. Known as the Prophet by his people, Tenskwtawwa merely voices Tecumseh's clairvoyant predictions. This power overcomes Tenskwtawwa and he begins to view himself as a true prophet and the real Shawnee Chief. In direct violation of Tecumseh's orders, he leads the Shawnees in a disastrously premature attack on General William Henry Harrison at Tippecanoe.

Van den Berg is a particularly versatile actor tracing Tenskwtawwa's growth from a young, impetuous buck eagerly awaiting his first tribal conference, to a cold calculating chief, obsessed with power.

A member of Actors' Equity Association, Van den Berg's credits include such off-Broadway shows as "Caligula", "Easy Outs" and "Macbeth". His film credits include "Pink Panther Strikes Again", "The

Three People Injured In Accidents

Three people were injured in two auto accidents investigated Wednesday night and Thursday morning by the Pickaway County Sheriff's Department.

Paul Wickline, 169 E. Main St., New Holland, was treated at Doctors West Hospital, Columbus, for a fractured shoulder blade, multiple contusions, a pulmonary contusion, a bruised knee, an abrasion to his left cheek, and lacerations to his left elbow.

Wickline was injured 8:55 p.m. Wednesday when his motorcycle collided with a car at the intersection of Route 62 and the Five Points Pike.

Driver of the car was Minda Belle Taylor, 33, 14249 Five Points Pike. Deputy Sheriff Dale Parish said she was driving west and pulled into the path of Wickline's motorcycle after stopping at the intersection of Route 62.

She is expected to be charged with failing to yield the right of way and having no operator's license.

Neither Mrs. Taylor nor a passenger, Edwin Lee Taylor, 13, were injured.

Wickline, who was thrown on top of the car, was given emergency treatment by the Harrison Twp. Squad.

Two people were injured in a two-car accident 1:30 a.m. Thursday on Cromley Road, south of the Route 316 intersection.

Mitchell D. Martin, 20, 25738 Tarlton-Adelphi Road, suffered minor abrasions and lacerations, and Jonni D. Howell, 23, Columbus, suffered a head injury.

Both were treated by the Harrison Twp. Squad and referred to doctors. Ms. Howell was the occupant in a parked car owned by Harold R. Halterman, Columbus.

Deputy Jim Fite said Martin drove off the right side of the road and struck the parked car.

Martin was charged with failing to drive on the right half of the roadway.

Debt Limit Bill Adopted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Ohioans apparently will be asked in the November election to repeal their state's antiquated $750,000 debt limit and allow the legislature to issue capital improvement bonds pegged to a fixed percentage of state revenues.

The House adopted the proposal 66-29 Wednesday, following the lead of the Senate. All that now remains is for the Senate to agree on some House amendments.

It doesn't require the approval of the governor.

The proposal originated in the Ohio Constitutional Revision Commission and has had bipartisan support, although some conservatives in both parties have opposed it.

Sponsors say the change would provide an orderly way to meet Ohio's capital improvement needs, such as highways, parks and prisons, and that it would contain safeguards against excessive spending.

Opponents object generally to taking away the voters' right to approve or reject individual bond issues, and some claim it could pave the way for financial disaster such as that suffered last year by New York City. They also say it could lead to a state tax hike.

A-C Board Informed Of Two Teacher Grants

The Amanda-Clearcreek Board of Education was informed at its regular meeting Monday that two teacher grants have been received by the District from the ESEA Title IV.

One is for $1,850 for a complete ceramics program submitted by Eleanor Allen, elementary art teacher.

The second grant, for $1,574 provides a sequential individualized method of teaching and learning phonics. It was submitted by Barbara Flinn and Krista Strickler, first grade teachers at the Stoutsville Elementary.

Cafeteria help hired by the board are Dorothy Hedrick as head cook and Marjorie Kinser, Lilith Gardner and Sharon Compton as full time cooks. Substitute cooks are Linda Werner, Josephine Smith, Violet Good, Pat Sherman, Evelyn Jones, Mertie Foster, Cordelia Doner and Donna Clark.

Certificated personnel hired are Gordon Grey and Deborah Crawford as Title I teachers, and Victoria Moluse as speech and hearing teacher and Patricia Wells as teacher.

Board member Nancy Huffines was named as alternate member to the Ohio School Boards Association.

The board rejected both bids received on the Water Treatment Facility at the Stoutsville Building from the EDA Grant.

It approved W. A. Smith to attend the Central Ohio Research Board committee meeting July 20 and 21.

It was noted that the district will have three vacancies on the board as of Jan. 1, 1978. Petitions for the board of education can be picked up at the Board of Elections office, Fairfield County Courthouse, Lancaster.

Deadline for filing petitions will be 4 p.m. Aug. 25.

Bargaining Law Declared Void

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Indiana Supreme Court says the public employees bargaining law passed by the 1975 General Assembly is unconstitutional.

The high court did so Tuesday by upholding a decision by Benton Circuit Court. The lower court noted the law prohibited judicial review of certain decisions made by a state administrative agency.

The law, which excluded teachers, police and firemen, provided for collective bargaining between public employees and their government employers.

The case involved an attempt by the Retail Clerks Union to represent a group of non-teaching employees of the Benton Community School Corp.

Mrs. Mark Phillips and son Brian from Fort Lauderdale, Fla. are visiting with friends and relatives in this area this week. Mrs. Phillips will meet with Dr. Phillips in Atlanta, Ga. later this week to attend the Doctors of Veterinary Medicine Convention. While the parents are gone, the Grandparents will be babysitting with Grandson Brian.

Betty and Everett Phillips have just returned from a two week fishing trip to Rice Lake in Canada. Fishing was so good, they'd like to go back in the near future. (It may have been good at Rice Lake but, it certainly wasn't at North Bay, as this writer found out.)

Mrs. Becky Merrill and daughter from Maryland have spent the last few days visiting her parents Henry and Elva Myers, and also plans to attend the wedding of her cousin Debbie Myers and Don Peters.

Dick Powers is at home recuperating from Mt. Carmel Hospital, he suffered a heart attack a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Bock from Cincinnati has been visiting with her Granddaughter Mrs. Sandy Beckman while her husband has been away to National Guard Camp.

Our sympathy goes to the McClain family on the death of their father Mr. McClain.

Our congratulations go to Miss Debbie Myers and Donald Peters, they were United in Marriage at the Lockbourne Methodist Church July 9 at 6:30 p.m. Rev. Allison officiated. Good Luck. Later in the evening a small party was held for family and friends at the parents home Mr. and Mrs. Kerr Myers.

Mrs. Mary Jean (Lawless) Galbreath suffered a cerebral hemorrhage two weeks ago and is in intensive care in St. Josephs Hospital in Lexington, Ky. She has a blood clot in the brain and in about ten days they are going to operate on her. I know that cards from her friends here would be greatly appreciated.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Myers hosted the Hill family reunion on their lawn this past Sunday. About 72 people attended and they came from Westerville, Gallipolis, Columbus, Medina, West Virginia and Commercial Point.

Howard Neff is holding his own and is still in Grant Hospital in Intensive Care. Cards would be most helpful.

The Rev. Wetherell's son Ed is recuperating at the home of Delbe Neff. He has suffered the amputation of his right leg, but, is coming along very well. He is a brother to Jean Neff.

The Jarrell Family reunion was held Saturday at the Darbydale Municipal Park. Approximately 50 people attended and a grand time was had by all.

Mrs. George Grubbs would like to "Thank Everyone" for the beautiful cards and flowers she received during her 3½ week stay at Riverside Hospital.

Congratulations go to Julia Green and Mike Pettibone. They were married on July 2 at the Commercial Point Methodist Church. They left the church in 11 horse drawn carriages.

YMCA Gymnastics Clinic

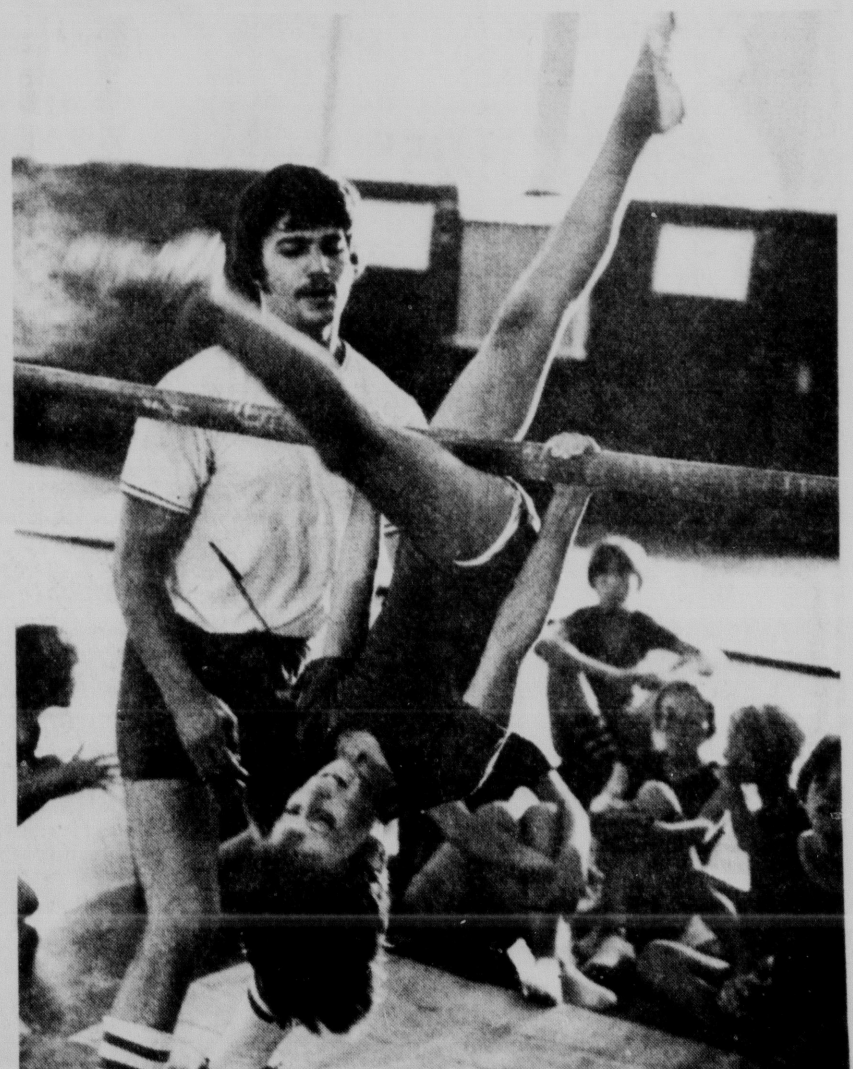

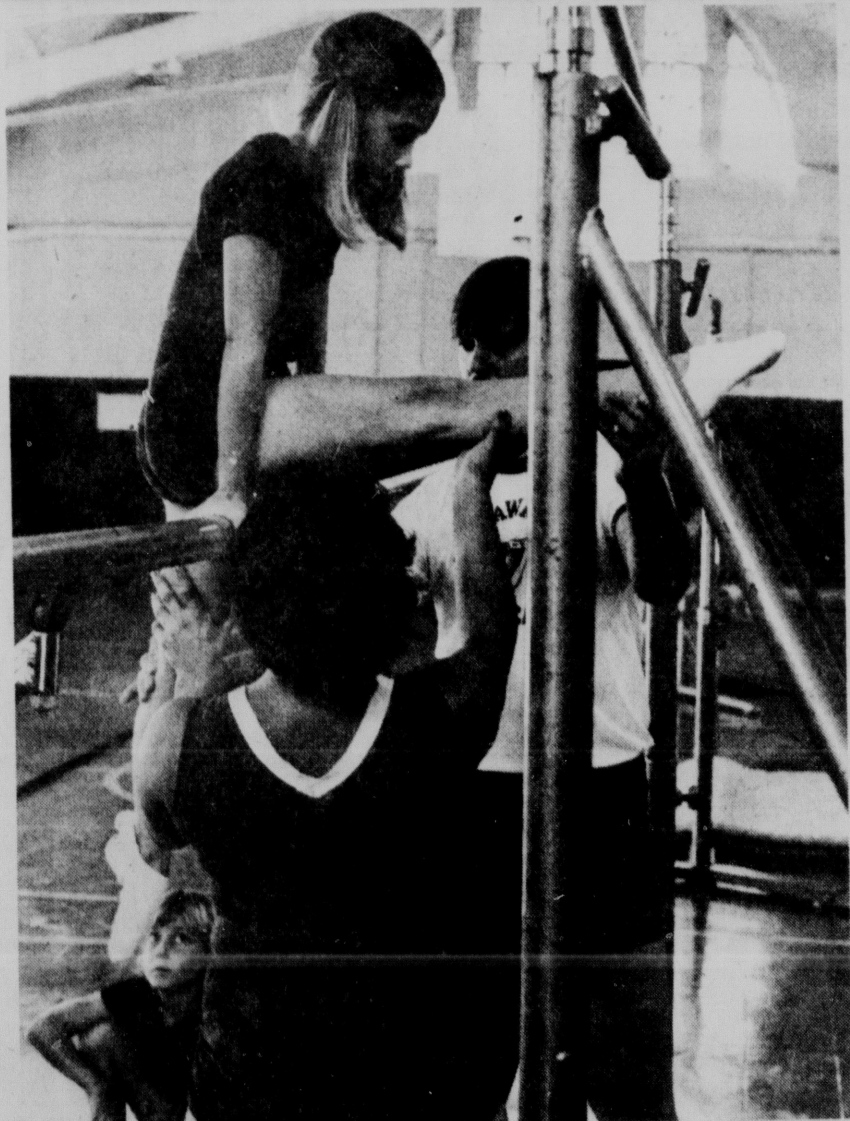

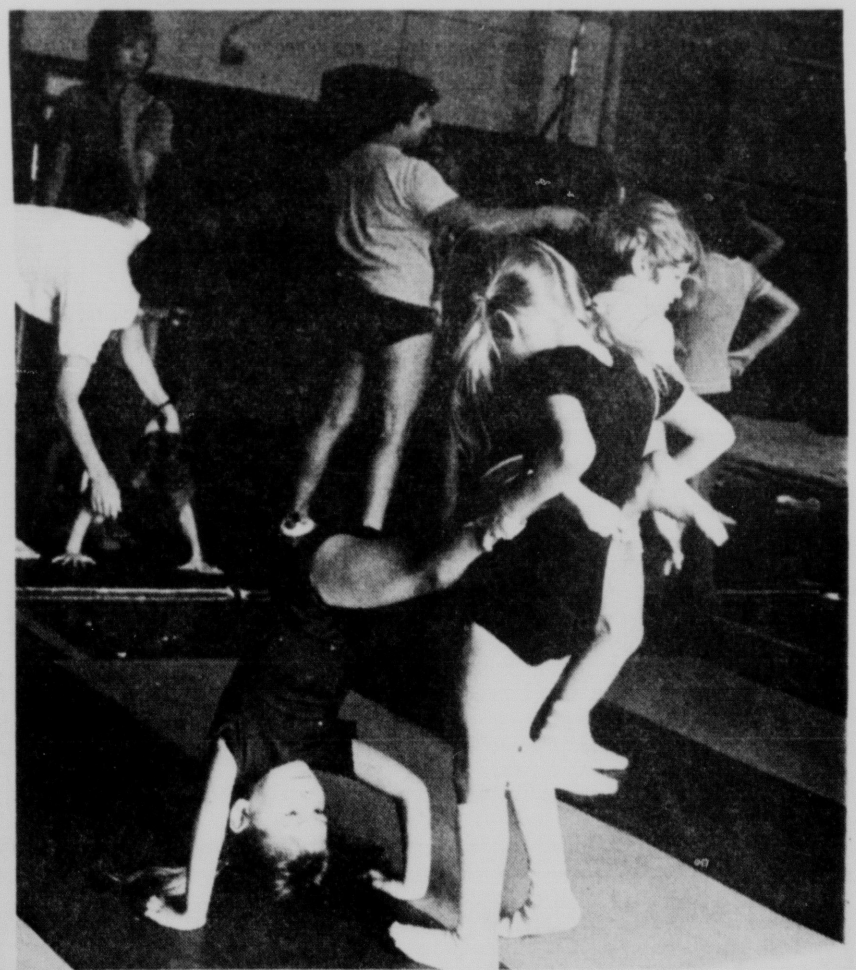

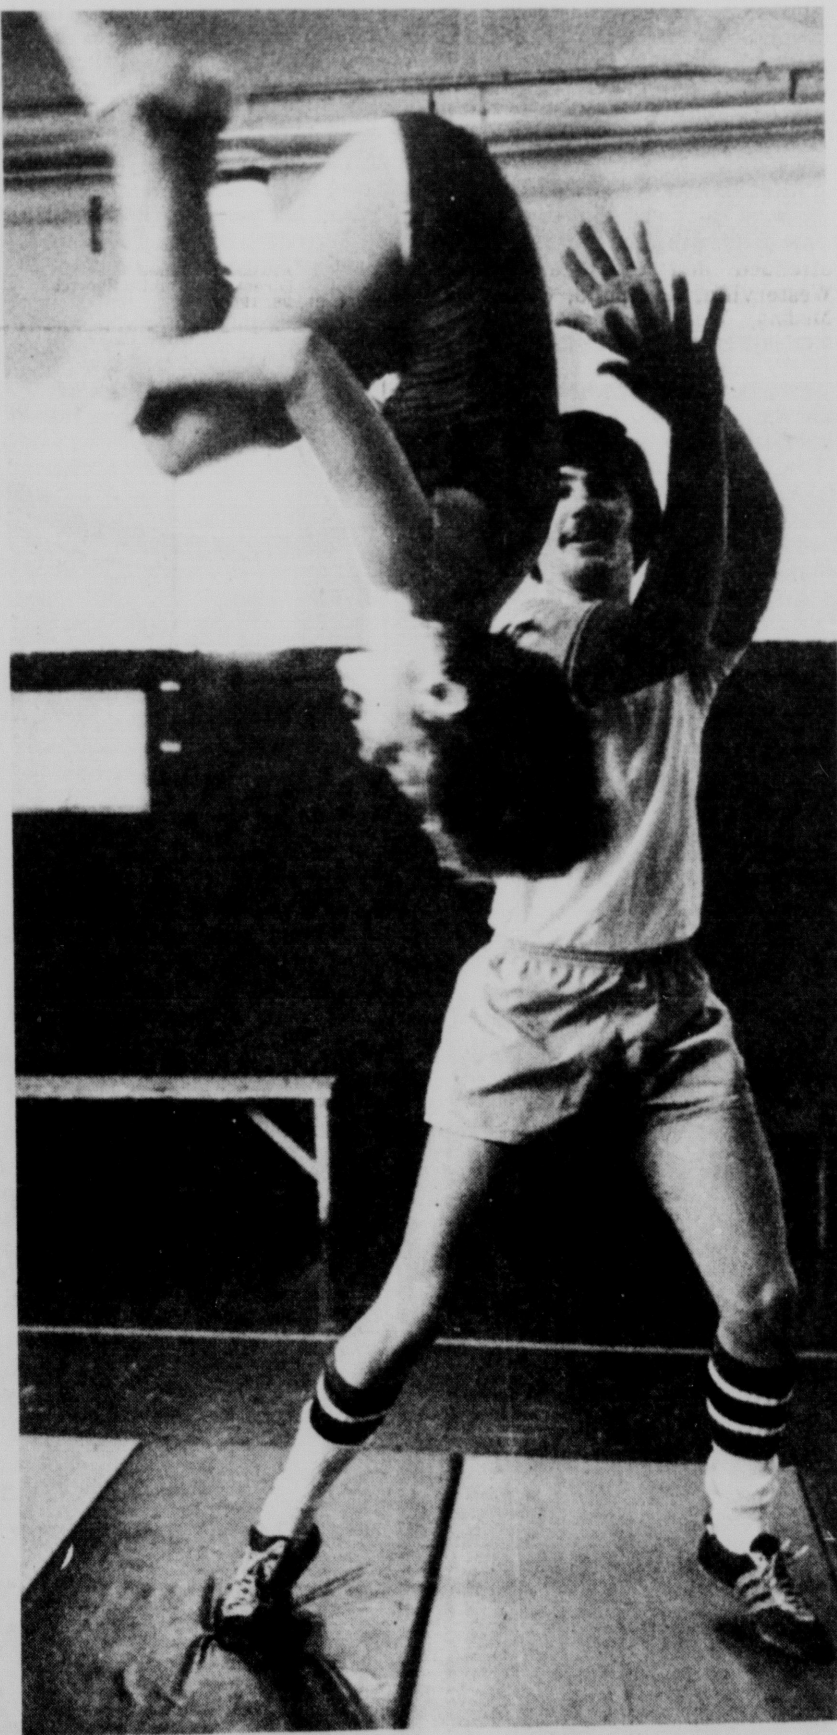

They worked, those 51 students from 20 schools who participated in the Pickaway County Family YMCA's gymnastic clinics.

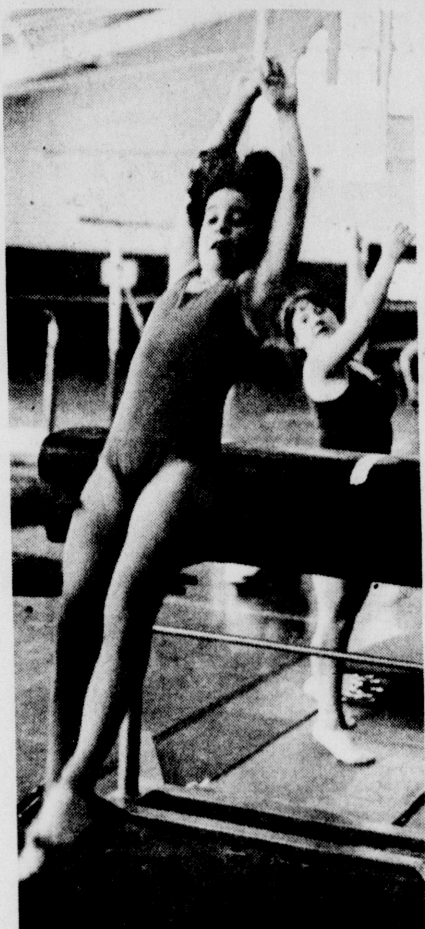

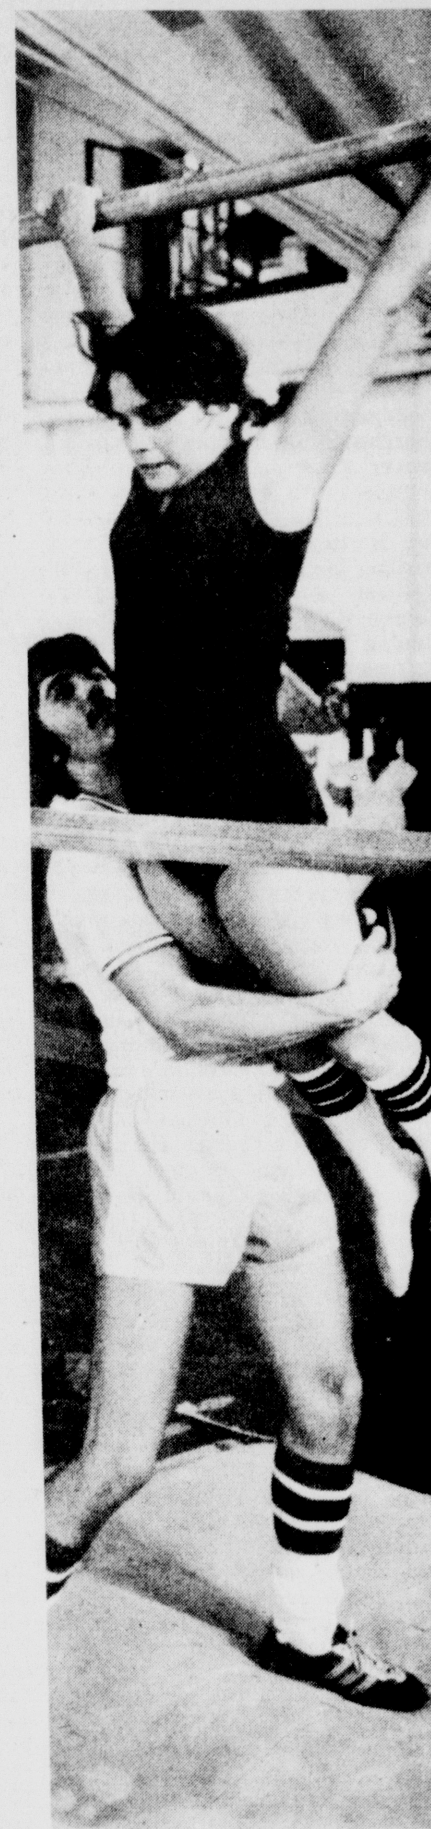

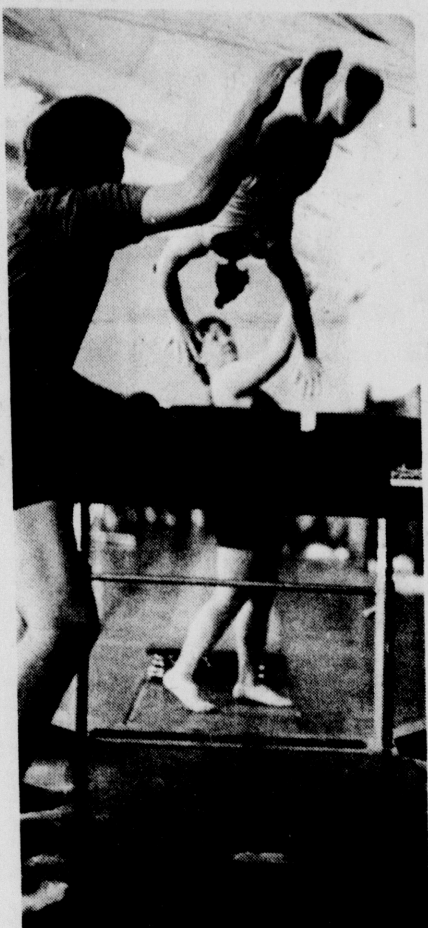

Under the direction of instructors Torey Hirsch, Annette Miano, Mike Echoff, and Linda Renehan, they sweated and exercised, ran, tumbled, swung on bars, and leaped. They also stumbled, fell to the floor and hid their injuries.

But most of all, they reached and attained new heights of development, confidence, and body control that is a part of the sport of gymnastics.

Participants ranged in age from 5 to 17.

Schools represented were Amanda, Circleville, Jackson, McDowell, New Holland, Saltcreek, Teays Valley, Westfall, Atwater, Circleville Junior High, Logan Elm, Pickaway, Washington, Mound St., and Chillicothe.

The Women of the Church of God met at the church last Thursday evening with Mrs. Judy Summers in charge. Mrs. Marjorie Ebert gave the devotions. The title was "God's Armor". Scripture reading was from the 6th chapter of Ephesians. The members voted to give $1000 for the church sign. The next meeting will be a prayer retreat at the home of Mrs. Summers with a carry-in picnic lunch at 11 a.m. The closing prayer was by Dee Hartley. Others attending were Bertha Wiggins, Linda Bell, Pat Welliver, Ann Summers, Barbara Henson, Ruth Reid, Alma Radabaugh, Evelyn Boyd and Linda Smith. Refreshments were served by Dee Hartley.

The Women's Society of Trinity United Methodist Church met on last Thursday evening at the Poling trailer near Victory Dr. A carry-in supper preceded the program. The opening prayer was given by Mrs. Mary Rose. Mrs. Virginia Stinard was in charge of the meeting and the devotions which she took from the Upper Room. The title was "Holy Water". It was reported that Mrs. Elsie DeLong was in the hospital. A committee was appointed to be in charge of serving in the pie booth at the Fireman's festival. Those who attended the meeting included Margaret Chilcote, Mildred Armstrong, Barbara Hettinger, Esther Swepston, Debbie Dumm, Doris Edwards, Eleanor Bowers, Geneva Kempton, Mrs. Rose, Dorothy McClelland, Mrs. Stinard and June Poling.

The Daily Vacation Bible school held at the Church of God two weeks ago was well attended with 207 present the first day and an increase in attendance each day after that. The children enjoyed singing, lessons, and craft. The theme of the school was "Lord Jesus, Teach Me." On Friday 227 persons enjoyed a picnic of Blue Drummer chicken, baked beans, potato chips, cookies and lemonade. On Sunday evening the children presented a program for their parents and friends and had a display of the crafts they had made.

On June 27 the Youth Fellowship of the Church of God sponsored a trip to King's Island with about 100 youths and adults making the trip. They arrived home about 1:30 the next morning.

Mrs. Forest (Ruth) Wolf was honored at a family dinner at her home on July 3 which was her ??? birthday. Joining her for the celebration were her husband, Forest, Mr. and Mrs. Tom (Martha Rose) Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight (June) Eveland, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Eveland, Mr. and Mrs. Marty Eveland and Marcie, Mrs. Betty Carter and daughters Beth, Pam and Angie; Roger Weaver and Miss Rita Carpenter.

Franklin and Wilma Strous entertained on last Wednesday evening with a picnic supper in honor of their son Gary's 25th birthday. Those who enjoyed the evening were Mrs. Gary Strous, the Rev. and Mrs. David Petterson and two daughters, Clendell and Carrol Reid of Tarlton, Mrs. Hattie White of Circleville, Mrs. Zola Flanigan, Steve, Tracy and Kathy Strous of Rt. 1. Joining the group in the evening were Bernard and Betty Lindsey when watermelon, home made ice cream and cake were served.

Mrs. Alma Huggins and Mrs. Golda Paxton were among the group of Senior Citizens of Circleville who enjoyed a recent trip to Canada.

The group left on June 17 for

Niagara Falls where they enjoyed a ride on the "Maid of the Mist" and visited the Falls at night. The next day they were in Sturbridge, Mass. where they attended church and later left for Boston with a visit to Bunker Hill, Old North Church and U.S.S. Constitution. On Monday they visited Concord and Lexington, arriving at Bar Harbor, Maine. This was the evening of the lobster dinner which Mrs. Huggins found very tasty—at 3 a.m. the next morning she wasn't so sure.

June 21 found the group touring Acadia National Park, later arriving at St. John, New Brunswick. On Wednesday they toured St. John, visited National Park and Magnetic Hill and on to Charlottetown. Thursday found them visiting the home of "Ann of Green Gables" and on to Sydney. Leaving Sydney after a visit to Alexander Graham Bell museum. Then a long trip along Cabot Trail arriving in Halifax. On Tuesday they enjoyed a six-hour Ocean crossing to Bar Harbor, arriving at Bangor, Maine. On Wednesday they arrived at Montreal on June 29. The 30 to Belleville, Ontario and on July 1 they arrived in Toronto for a tour then to Kitchener in time for dinner. July 2 ended the tour as the group returned to Ohio and their respective homes reporting the trip a success.

Mrs. Elsie DeLong of Route 1, was a patient in Ross Medical Center several days last week when she had a cataract operation.

Mrs. Nelle Swackhammer underwent major surgery in Grant Hospital on Monday, June 11th. Harry Smith is a Medical patient in Ross Medical Center, and Mrs. Motis Lindsey is a patient in Berger Hospital.

Eight year old Berry Fee returned home on Tuesday from Children's Hospital where he underwent hip surgery.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl DeLong were Mrs. Alice Yanari and two children Ali and Allison of Iran; Ralph Smith and Margaret Jarvis of Columbus; Warren and Sherry White, Mr. and Mrs. Dalton DeLong, Bill and David of Laurelville and Fred and Halen Weidman of Little Walnut. Mrs. Yanari is Mrs. DeLong's niece and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weidman. She and the children are visiting in Ohio and will be joined later by Mr. Yanari.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Vandagriff of Route 2, would like to thank neighbors and friends for their many kindnesses to them and their little daughter Tina during her recent stay in the hospital. Tina is recuperating from a badly injured foot suffered when she fell under a riding mower while it was being operated at her home.

Mrs. Ruth Reid would like to thank every one who helped her by mowing grass, taking her to church and other acts of kindness while she had her broken arm in a cast. Also for the many cards she received and for the flowers from Laurelville school employees.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reynolds and son were in Galesburg, Penn. Monday to attend the funeral of Lee's brother-in-law, the Rev. James Holiday. They returned home on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hartsaugh were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hartsaugh and Doug of Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hedges of Columbus, visited Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Reichelderfer of Tarlton and Mr. and Mrs. Forest Wolf of Route 1, Laurelville.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fausnaugh and children and Tom Mead of Circleville and Mrs. Ruth Reid spent 4 days camping at Old Man's Cave over the fourth of July.

Mrs. Jerry Thompson and Jeremy, Harry and Mike Dille called on Mrs. Ruth Reid last Monday evening. Her visitors on Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harper and family.

Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards entered Fox's Nursing Home on Sunday. Mrs. Helen Harmon who had been her companion for the past 10 years moved to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Motis Lindsey of Blue Creek Rd. to help care for them. Her mother is a patient in Berger Hospital at the present time.

One boy and one girl from each county has been chosen to attend 4-H camp of Ohio near Utica. From Hocking county it was Richard Kennard and Miss Tammie Pavlik, both of near Logan, Ohio.

"Corn and Soy Bean Day" will be held Aug. 4 at Don Scott Field, 2400 Case Road, Columbus, Ohio. Registration will be at 9 a.m. and the program will begin promptly at 10. It is sponsored by Ohio Agricultural and Research Development Center.

Due to the small attendance at the Senior Citizen meeting Monday night, no meeting was conducted. The few who were there ate supper and went home. There will be no meeting in Aug.

7 New Members Accepted in REACT

Seven new members were inducted into the Pickaway County REACT Team at its July meeting.

The new members are: Sam Shoemaker, Alvin and Mabel Recobs, Homer Logan Sr., Jerry Whitt, Robert Winland and David Fouch. Plans were completed for the first aid trailer and the parking of cars at the Pickaway County Fair July 31-Aug. 5.

Meigs County Author, Musician To Be At Library

Music and stories are natural companions, and Bob Fox will put them together during his program at Pickaway County District Public Library 10 a.m. Wednesday. All children of school age are invited and urged to come bring their friends for a good time at the library.

Bob Fox is a professional writer and musician. He is known in the area through his involvement with the "Poets in the Schools" program sponsored by the Ohio Arts Council, and he has just had a collection of short stories published. Bob has composed songs for guitar and during his program at the library will combine songs, poems, and stories in a way that will invite participation by the children attending. He and his family live on a farm in Meigs County.

The Pickaway County District Public Library and the Ohio Valley Area Libraries, a cooperative library system with members in 10 southeastern counties, are sponsoring a series of summer programs for children. They are held each weekday morning at 10:00 from July 18-July 29. Children may register at the library (477-1644).

Job Suspension Guidelines Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Public employees who are classified under civil service could appeal jobs suspensions of more than three working days, with final approval of a measure that has cleared its first legislative hurdle.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. John D. Thompson Jr., D-15 Cleveland, was approved 70-15 by the House Tuesday and sent to the Senate.

Present law permits appeals to the State Personnel Board of Review of suspensions longer than five days.

The Women of the Church of God met at the church last Thursday evening with Mrs. Judy Summers in charge. Mrs. Marjorie Ebert gave the devotion. The title was "God's Armor". Scripture reading was from the 6th chapter of Ephesians. The members voted to give $1000 for the church sign. The next meeting will be a prayer retreat at the home of Mrs. Summers with a carry-in picnic lunch at 11 a.m. The closing prayer was by Dee Hartley. Others attending were Bertha Wiggins, Linda Bell, Pat Welliver, Ann Summers, Barbara Henson, Ruth Reid, Alma Radabaugh, Evelyn Boyd and Linda Smith. Refreshments were served by Dee Hartley.

The Women's Society of Trinity United Methodist Church met on last Thursday evening at the Poling trailer near Victory Dr. A carry-in supper preceded the program. The opening prayer was given by Mrs. Mary Rose. Mrs. Virginia Stinard was in charge of the meeting and the devotions which she took from the Upper Room. The title was "Holy Water". It was reported that Mrs. Elsie DeLong was in the hospital. A committee was appointed to be in charge of serving in the pie booth at the Fireman's festival. Those who attended the meeting included Margaret Chilcote, Mildred Armstrong, Barbara Hettinger, Esther Swepston, Debbie Dumm, Doris Edwards, Eleanor Bowers, Geneva Kempton, Mrs. Rose, Dorothy McClelland, Mrs. Stinard and June Poling.

The Daily Vacation Bible school held at the Church of God two weeks ago was well attended with 207 present the first day and an increase in attendance each day after that. The children enjoyed singing, lessons, and craft. The theme of the school was "Lord Jesus, Teach Me." On Friday 227 persons enjoyed a picnic of Blue Drummer chicken, baked beans, potato chips, cookies and lemonade. On Sunday evening the children presented a program for their parents and friends and had a display of the crafts they had made.

On June 27 the Youth Fellowship of the Church of God sponsored a trip to King's Island with about 100 youths and adults making the trip. They arrived home about 1:30 the next morning.

Mrs. Forest (Ruth) Wolf was honored at a family dinner at her home on July 3 which was her ??? birthday. Joining her for the celebration were her husband, Forest, Mr. and Mrs. Tom (Martha Rose) Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Dwight (June) Eveland, Mr. and Mrs. Mike Eveland, Mr. and Mrs. Marty Eveland and Marcie, Mrs. Betty Carter and daughters Beth, Pam and Angie; Roger Weaver and Miss Rita Carpenter.

Franklin and Wilma Strous entertained on last Wednesday evening with a picnic supper in honor of their son Gary's 25th birthday. Those who enjoyed the evening were Mrs. Gary Strous, the Rev. and Mrs. David Petterson and two daughters, Clendell and Carrol Reid of Tarlton, Mrs. Hattie White of Circleville, Mrs. Zola Flanigan, Steve, Tracy and Kathy Strous of Rt. 1. Joining the group in the evening were Bernard and Betty Lindsey when watermelon, home made ice cream and cake were served.

Mrs. Alma Huggins and Mrs. Golda Paxton were among the group of Senior Citizens of Circleville who enjoyed a recent trip to Canada. The group left on June 17 for Niagara Falls where they enjoyed a ride on the "Maid of the Mist" and visited the Falls at night. The next day they were in Sturbridge, Mass. where they attended church and later left for Boston with a visit to Bunker Hill, Old North Church and U.S.S. Constitution. On Monday they visited Concord and Lexington, arriving at Bar Harbor, Maine. This was the evening of the lobster dinner which Mrs. Huggins found very tasty—at 3 a.m. the next morning she wasn't so sure.

June 21 found the group touring Acadia National Park, later arriving at St. John, New Brunswick. On Wednesday they toured St. John, visited National Park and Magnetic Hill and on to Charlottetown. Thursday found them visiting the home of "Ann of Green Gables" and on to Sydney. Leaving Sydney after a visit to Alexander Graham Bell museum. Then a long trip along Cabot Trail arriving in Halifax. On Tuesday they enjoyed a six-hour Ocean crossing to Bar Harbor, arriving at Bangor, Maine. On Wednesday they arrived at Montreal on June 29. The 30 to Belleville, Ontario and on July 1 they arrived in Toronto for a tour then to Kitchener in time for dinner. July 2 added the tour as the group returned to Ohio and their respective homes reporting the trip a success.

Mrs. Elsie DeLong of Route 1, was a patient in Ross Medical Center several days last week when she had a cataract operation.

Mrs. Nelle Swackhammer underwent major surgery in Grant Hospital on Monday, June 11th. Harry Smith is a Medical patient in Ross Medical Center, and Mrs. Motis Lindsey is a patient in Berger Hospital.

Eight year old Berry Fee returned home on Tuesday from Children's Hospital where he underwent hip surgery.

Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Earl DeLong were Mrs. Alice Yanari and two children Ali and Allison of Iran; Ralph Smith and Margaret Jarvis of Columbus; Warren and Sherry White, Mr. and Mrs. Dalton DeLong, Bill and David of Laurelville and Fred and Halen Weidman of Little Walnut. Mrs. Yanari is Mrs. DeLong's niece and the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Weidman. She and the children are visiting in Ohio and will be joined later by Mr. Yanari.

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Vandagriff of Route 2, would like to thank neighbors and friends for their many kindnesses to them and their little daughter Tina during her recent stay in the hospital. Tina is recuperating from a badly injured foot suffered when she fell under a riding mower while it was being operated at her home.

Mrs. Ruth Reid would like to thank every one who helped her by mowing grass, taking her to church and other acts of kindness while she had her broken arm in a cast. Also for the many cards she received and for the flowers from Laurelville school employees.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Reynolds and son were in Galeton, Penn. Monday to attend the funeral of Lee's brother-in-law, the Rev. James Holiday. They returned home on Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Hartsaugh were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Glen Hartsaugh and Doug of Circleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hedges of Columbus, visited Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Reichelderfer of Tarlton and Mr. and Mrs. Forest Wolf of Route 1, Laurelville.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Fausnaugh and children and Tom Mead of Circleville and Mrs. Ruth Reid spent 4 days camping at Old Man's Cave over the fourth of July.

Mrs. Jerry Thompson and Jeremy, Harry and Mike Dille called on Mrs. Ruth Reid last Monday evening. Her visitors on Thursday were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Harper and family.

Mrs. Elizabeth Edwards entered Fox's Nursing Home on Sunday. Mrs. Helen Harmon who had been her companion for the past 10 years moved to the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Motis Lindsey of Blue Creek Rd. to help care for them. Her mother is a patient in Berger Hospital at the present time.

One boy and one girl from each county has been chosen to attend 4-H camp of Ohio near Utica. From Hocking county it was Richard Kennard and Miss Tammie Pavlik, both of near Logan, Ohio.

"Corn and Soy Bean Day" will be held Aug. 4 at Don Scott Field, 2400 Case Road, Columbus, Ohio. Registration will be at 9 a.m. and the program will begin promptly at 10. It is sponsored by Ohio Agricultural and Research Development Center.

Due to the small attendance at the Senior Citizen meeting Monday night, no meeting was conducted. The few who were there ate supper and went home. There will be no meeting in Aug.

7 New Members Accepted In REACT

Seven new members were inducted into the Pickaway County REACT Team at its July meeting.

The new members are: Sam Shoemaker, Alvin and Mabel Recobs, Homer Logan Sr., Jerry Whitt, Robert Winland and David Fouch. Plans were completed for the first aid trailer and the parking of cars at the Pickaway County Fair July 31-Aug. 5.

Meigs County Author, Musician To Be At Library

Music and stories are natural companions, and Bob Fox will put them together during his program at Pickaway County District Public Library 10 a.m. Wednesday. All children of school age are invited and urged to come bring their friends for a good time at the library.

Bob Fox is a professional writer and musician. He is known in the area through his involvement with the "Poets in the Schools" program sponsored by the Ohio Arts Council, and he has just had a collection of short stories published. Bob has composed songs for guitar and during his program at the library will combine songs, poems, and stories in a way that will invite participation by the children attending. He and his family live on a farm in Meigs County.

The Pickaway County District Public Library and the Ohio Valley Area Libraries, a cooperative library system with members in 10 southeastern counties, are sponsoring a series of summer programs for children. They are held each weekday morning at 10:00 from July 18-July 29. Children may register at the library (477-1644).

Job Suspension Guidelines Eyed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Public employees who are classified under civil service could appeal jobs suspensions of more than three working days, with final approval of a measure that has cleared its first legislative hurdle.

The bill, sponsored by Rep. John D. Thompson Jr., D-15 Cleveland, was approved 70-15 by the House Tuesday and sent to the Senate.

Present law permits appeals to the State Personnel Board of Review of suspensions longer than five days.

Lions Hold Ladies Night

The Circleville Lions Club and the Ladies' Lion Auxiliary recently held their annual ladies night at Shawnee Vineyards.

Officers for the 1977-78 year for the auxiliary are: First Vice President, Geneva Mallett; Second Vice President, Barbara Wilson; Secretary, Bev Six; Treasurer, Carol Bowman; and Tailtwister, Rosalee Crabtree.

Lions Club officers include: First Vice President, George Mallett; Second Vice President, Phillip Everett; Third Vice President, Elliott Hawkes; Directors, Phillip Shroyer, Steve Thomerson, and Jim Mann; Lion Tamer, Bill Six; Assistant Lion Tamer, Gail Wolfe; Tail Twister, Albert Petty; Assistant Tail Twister, Don Flanders; Secretary, Ronald McPherson; Assistant Secretary, Clarence Radcliffe; and Treasurer, Kenneth Fosnaugh.

The ladies night was highlighted with the presentation of the outstanding Lion of the year award to Milton Griest.

Entertainment was provided by Holiday Parker and P.J. Ryal.

President Widens Use Of Dictionaries

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Carter is causing problems for those who edit his public pronouncements for official publication. He uses unfamiliar words that send them to their dictionaries.

A veteran editor of the "Weekly Compilation of Presidential Documents," published by the Office of the Federal Register, said in an interview that Carter's vocabulary eclipses that of any other president since the first issue came off the presses at the Government Printing Office in August 1965.

By her measure, Carter has a greater command of language than Lyndon B. Johnson, Richard M. Nixon and Gerald R. Ford. One can only speculate how she would have rated John F. Kennedy, who had an impressive way with words.

The editor, Margaret Donohue, credited Carter with eliminating one problem that was commonplace in some other administrations — finding an appropriate heading to place above each separate question-and-answer in news conference transcripts.

With some presidents, she related, there often was a tenuous relationship between questions and responses.

"Do you base the heading on the question that was asked or on the question that was answered?" she mused.

In Carter's case, she related, the response is usually closely related to the question, so there's no problem. Without mentioning names, she said some others seemed to prefer to respond to a question they wished they'd been asked, but weren't.

Reporters often found that to be the case with LBJ and, at times, Nixon.

The "Weekly Compilation" contains all of Carter's public remarks, selected documents such as messages to Congress, his daily schedule and a digest of White House announcements. Anyone can order a subscription from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, for $15 a year.

The publication is in the news now because, starting this month, it comes out in a smaller format — 9 3/4 by 6 7/8 inches instead of 11 1/2 by 8 1/2.

There's a reason for the shrinkage, but not the one you might guess. The aim is to save type, not paper.

It seems that many of the items printed in the "Weekly Compilation" also appear in annual hardcover volumes of collected presidential papers. By having the page size of weekly issues match that of the books, the government saves a lot of typesetting.

It took Uncle Sam only 12 years to discover the fact.

Carter has a youthful staff, which may go far toward explaining his associates' zest for softball. The White House team plays often, takes the game seriously and, if you believe its members, wins more often than it loses.

One of those losses came Sunday when the White House team bowed 8 to 7 after being challenged by an Indiana team that journeyed here from Indianapolis by chartered bus. The bus ride alone, by some two dozen players, might suggest that the Hoosiers' enthusiasm for softball more than matched that of the home team.

The Indiana team represented the Indianapolis Star and warmed up for the big contest with the Carter folks by losing a Saturday contest to the Washington Post 25 to 11.

White House Press Secretary Jody Powell played shortstop for his team while his wife, Nan, was at second base. The serenity of the Powell family seemingly was not disturbed when Mrs. Powell missed a throw from her husband that seemed sure to presage an easy putout.

For four women members of the Star team, the trip to Washington had a surprise ending. A good host, Powell invited all the Hoosiers to meet him for drinks at a hotel after the game. He and his wife offered rides to the four women and stopped at the White House en route to the place of refreshment.

At the White House, the Powells and their guests ran into — you guessed it — the President and Mrs. Carter.

Incidentally, the White House team does not plan any road trips. Too many members work on weekends. What's more, limousines are in short supply.

Court Offices Release Stats

At the Pickaway County Courthouse, three offices have released statistics for June.

Hazel Yeatts, recorder, showed that 473 recordings were processed. This consists of 170 deeds and 184 real estate. The office filed and processed 198 financing statements.

Judge Guy G. Cline of the probate division released the following marriage statistics for June. Applications made totaled 54, 53 licenses were issued and 50 licenses were solemnized that were issued within 60 days.

Sixty-two cases were filed to Judge William Ammer in the common pleas court during June. This includes two personal injury, 23 criminal and 26 domestic relations. Cases terminated during the period totaled 79. Four were finished by jury trial, nine by court trial, 25 dismissals and 37 defaults.

With the 270 cases pending on June 1, the number pending at the end of the month equal 253.

Ohio Corn Crop Short Of Record

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — While the nation's corn crop this year is expected to hit a record high, the harvest in Ohio apparently will fall short of last year's record in both acreage and yield.

The Ohio Crop Reporting Service estimated that farmers will harvest 3,750,000 acres with a yield of 85 bushels per acre. That compares with 3.9 million acres and 101 bushels in 1976.

This year's estimate was based on July 1 surveys.

Nationally, the Agriculture Department put the corn crop at 6.33 billion bushels, up 2 per cent from the 1976 record of 6.22 billion bushels.

But officials cautioned that farmers still face at least two critical months during which dry weather and other problems could affect corn yields severely.

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
A cold front which pushed through Ohio overnight was expected to move back northward through the state today—this time as a warm front accompanied by more high temperatures, but slightly lower humidities.

Thunderstorms associated with the frontal system Wednesday night produced the largest hailstones to fall within Ohio in several years. Tennis ball-sized hail was reported last night at Adelphi and Laureville and two-inch hail fell in Greenfield.

Temperatures today and Friday will range from the upper 80s northeast to the low 90s south. Relative humidities this afternoon and Friday afternoon will be near 50 per cent. Lows tonight will be around 70.

No showers or thundershowers were expected in Ohio today or tonight. Showers and thundershowers are anticipated Friday as another cold front approaches the state.

Couple Pays Taxes On Split Property

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — David and Roberta Holmes paid their neighbor's property taxes because of the Franklin County auditor's lot split system.

Their only recourse is to ask the neighbors for the money.

Chief deputy auditor Arthur Marland said tax money is refunded only when too much has been paid. The correct amount was paid on the first half tax bill and there will be no refund, he said.

The second-half tax bill was overpaid, however, and a refund will be made.

Lot splits, routine in developing areas, occur when a property owner divides his land into two or more sections for resale.

The original owners of the lot sold the south half to a contractor for $5,000 in March 1976. The firm built a home on the 60-by-140-foot tract and sold it to the Holmes's for $38,900. The Holmeses took out a mortgage and set up an escrow account at a savings and loan association to take care of taxes.

Treasurer's office records show the property taxes on the entire lot in 1976 were $103.88 a half. In January, the first-half 1976 tax bill of $103.88 was sent to the financial house, which paid the bill. The second-half bill, for the same amount, was sent out in June and again the bill was paid.

But on June 26, treasurer's office records show, corrected bills were sent out showing the owner of the north half of the lot should pay $71.73 and the owner of the south half should pay $32.15.

Mrs. Holmes said the owner of the north half of the lot received the $32.15 bill and paid it Monday. Mrs. Holmes said she also received a tax bill for $71.73, but did not pay it.

Deputy auditor Leroy Bowen, who works in the parcel department, said there usually is a lag of up to a year between the time a lot split occurs and the auditor's office changes tax bills.

He said the problem could have been avoided if attorneys representing the buyer and seller had applied to the auditor for adjusted tax bills immediately after the lot was split.

AT BOOKS IN THE CHILDREN'S LIBRARY

Only two days left to register for the library's summer program, which starts Monday. Interested elementary students who have completed first grade should come in or call us at 477-1644 today!

New books include, for preschoolers, "Harriet Goes to the Circus." Patsy Maestro's elephant introduced simple word concepts in "Where Is My Friend?" In this new adventure, Harriet illustrates the use of ordinal numbers as she and her friends line up at the circus box office.

Another new "E" book for the younger set is Franz Brandenburg's "A Robber! A Robber!" Positive they heard burglars during the night, a brother and sister cat wonder what they could have taken since nothing seems to be missing. Alik illustrates this mystery.

A new story with the simplicity and character of an old folktale is Sonia Levitin's "A Single Speckled Egg." When three farmers worry excessively, their wives consult the village wise man. Read this humorous story to find out how they remedy their problem. (E)

Older children in search of humorous reading material won't want to overlook Manus Pinkwater's "The Hoboken Chicken Emergency." The fun begins when young Arthur Bobwicz is sent out to pick up his family's Thanksgiving turkey but returns with a 266-pound chicken! (Grades 3-7)

For admirers of the Loch Ness Monster, we have yet another book on this mysterious creature. In "The Mystery of the Loch Ness Monster," author Jeanne Bendick compiles carefully documented historical and geographical data on the subject along with photographs and sketches. Not a brainwash attempt, Bendick lets the reader decide whether this creature of the lake is real or imaginary. (590)

Have you ever eaten a slump or a snickerdoodle? Read "Slumps, Grunts, and Snickerdoodles" to find out. This cookbook examines the diets and culinary innovations of the American colonists and gives thirteen colonial recipes, including succotash and spoon bread as well as those listed in the title. 'Should be of interest to junior cooks and history buffs. (541.5) See you soon!

Man Bound Over In KKK Violence

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A second man arrested in the Fourth of July melee on the Capitol steps has been bound over to trial in Franklin County Common Pleas Court.

Wilford G. Allison, 30, of Akron, was bound over Wednesday by Municipal Court Judge Sidney Sheldon on a felony charge of inciting to violence. He remains free on $1,000 bond.

Allison requested and will receive a jury trial in municipal court on a misdemeanor charge of disturbing a lawful meeting, also stemming from the holiday confrontation with the Ku Klux Klan.

No trial date has been set.

Sprinkler Law Not Applicable?

SOUTHGATE, Ky. (AP) — The city attorney said today that a 1947 city law requiring sprinklers in places of assembly has no application to the May 28 fire at Beverly Hills Supper Club in which 164 persons died.

Albert Root termed as "inaccurate" a published report alleging that the nightclub was built in violation of the 1947 law.

Root said the 1947 ordinance has been revised at least six times and eliminated the need for the sprinklers.

The 1947 law was discovered by a team of Northern Kentucky University law school students working for Cincinnati attorney Stanley Chesley. Chesley has filed several lawsuits against the city in behalf of relatives of fire victims.

Cubs Led Mets, 2-1 Until Lights Went Out

NEW YORK (AP) — "I always said the Cubs play better without lights," equipped Lenny Randle of the New York Mets.

The Chicago Cubs, of course, play their home games in Wrigley Field, the only ballpark in the major leagues without lights...until Wednesday night.

Add Shea Stadium, home of the Mets.

The lights went out for the last-place Mets some time ago and Wednesday night they went out for real when Shea Stadium was hit by the blackout that darkened New York City just after 9:30 p.m.

The first-place Cubs, with Steve Ontiveros hitting a two-run homer in the second inning and Ray Burris on the mound, led the Mets and Jerry Koosman 2-1 with one out in the bottom of the sixth. The game was suspended and scheduled to be resumed just prior to today's regularly scheduled afternoon contest—conditions permitting.

There was no power shortage in Philadelphia, where Greg Luzinski drove in all the Phillies' runs with a pair of homers in a 5-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. Elsewhere in the National League, the Houston Astros edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2 in 13 innings, the Atlanta Braves nipped the Cincinnati Reds 4-3, the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Montreal Expos 6-1 and the San Francisco Giants shaded the San Diego Padres 5-4.

The Mets managed only two hits off Burris, an infield squib by Steve Henderson with two out in the fourth inning after the Chicago right-hander retired the first 11 New York batters, and a home run by Mike Vail in the fifth.

Koosman grounded out to start the Mets' sixth and Randle was about to step in when everything went black.

"I thought to myself, 'This is my last at-bat. God is coming to get me,'" Randle said.

After a few minutes, Shea's emergency power system flickered some small lights on throughout the ballpark, although the arclights remained dark.

Mets Craig Swan and Joel Youngblood, along with a stadium employee, drove their cars into the outfield and turned on the headlights. That provided enough light for Jerry Grote and Bob Apodaca to entertain the crowd of around 12,000 with a phantom infield drill.

Meanwhile, organist Jane Jarvis provided a musical interlude for more than an hour until plate umpire Harry Wendelstedt terminated the proceedings.

In the Cubs' bullpen, Pete Broberg had just unleashed a warmup pitch when the lights went out. Fortunately, it was on target and thudded into catcher Steve Swisher's mitt a split second later.

In the candle-lit Cubs' clubhouse, George Mitterwald disclosed that "Coach Peanuts Lowrey told me of two times this happened. One time the pitcher had just thrown the ball. The batter bailed out, the catcher dove to the ground and the ball hit the umpire in the chest protector."

It was a night when even M. Donald Grant, the Mets' beleaguered chairman of the board, wasn't a target of the fans' wrath. Grant came on the public address system—it worked on auxiliary power—and thanked the fans for their cooperation and understanding. He also informed them of the blackout situation as provided by the Consolidated Edison utility.

The fans ignored Grant. They booed Con Edison.

In Philadelphia, Luzinski tagged former teammate Tom Underwood for a two-run homer in the first inning and a three-run shot in the third. That enabled Steve Carlton, with help from Tug McGraw in the eighth, to record his 12th triumph, tying him for the major league lead with Rick Reuschel of the Cubs and Frank Tanana and Nolan Ryan of the California Angels.

The Astros pushed across a run in the 13th inning to beat the Dodgers when Terry Puhl, playing in his first major league game, singled, was sacrificed to second and scored on Bob Watson's double. Jose Cruz scored Houston's first run in the fifth on Ken Boswell's double and homered in the seventh, tying the score.

The Reds remained 9½ games behind Los Angeles in the NL West as Atlanta's Buzz Capra, in his longest outing since 1975, fired seven strong innings, yielding two runs and six hits. George Foster and Mike Lum homered for the Reds, who fell short when Rick Camp pitched out of a bases-loaded jam in the ninth.

The Pirates snapped a 1-1 tie against Montreal with five runs in the seventh. After Rennie Stennett and Phil Garner delivered RBI singles off loser Steve Rogers, Dave Parker greeted reliever Will McEnaney with a two-run double and scored on a double by Bill Robinson. Gary Carter homered for the Expos.

Rob Andrews drove in three runs, two with a first-inning double, and Jack Clark homered, helping the Giants edge the Padres.

Piranhas Swamp Groveport In Final League Home Meet

The Circleville Piranha Swim Team swamped the Groveport Swim Team during the final home Mt. Pleasant League meet held last night at the local pool.

It was the 27 consecutive win for the Piranhas coached by Jim Shea.

The Piranhas won by an impressive score of 474 to 233, capturing 39 first places in individual events and 16 first places in relay events.

Cheering Camp Begins At Valley Vista

Fifty high school cheerleaders have invaded Valley Vista Sports Camp here for a week of intensive training as preparation for the upcoming school year.

Four representatives of the National Cheerleaders Association of Dallas, Texas are directing the girls in the latest trends in cheerleading. Helen Langenbacher of Ball State University serves as the chief instructor with Susan Henderson of Ohio State University, Vicki Myers of Locoming College, and Belinda Jones of Bowling Green as assistants.

Ms. Langenbacher is a cheerleader at Ball State and is serving on the NCA staff for the sixth year. The National Cheerleaders Association is the nation's original in its field and is beginning its 28th year of instruction throughout the country.

Cubs Led Mets, 2-1 Until Lights Went Out

NEW YORK (AP) — "I always said the Cubs play better without lights," equipped Lenny Randle of the New York Mets.

The Chicago Cubs, of course, play their home games in Wrigley Field, the only ballpark in the major leagues without lights...until Wednesday night.

Add Shea Stadium, home of the Mets.

The lights went out for the last-place Mets some time ago and Wednesday night they went out for real when Shea Stadium was hit by the blackout that darkened New York City just after 9:30 p.m.

The first-place Cubs, with Steve Ontiveros hitting a two-run homer in the second inning and Ray Burris on the mound, led the Mets and Jerry Koosman 2-1 with one out in the bottom of the sixth. The game was suspended and scheduled to be resumed just prior to today's regularly scheduled afternoon contest—conditions permitting.

There was no power shortage in Philadelphia, where Greg Luzinski drove in all the Phillies' runs with a pair of homers in a 5-2 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals. Elsewhere in the National League, the Houston Astros edged the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-2 in 13 innings, the Atlanta Braves nipped the Cincinnati Reds 4-3, the Pittsburgh Pirates downed the Montreal Expos 6-1 and the San Francisco Giants shaded the San Diego Padres 5-4.

The Mets managed only two hits off Burris, an infield squib by Steve Henderson with two out in the fourth inning after the Chicago right-hander retired the first 11 New York batters, and a home run by Mike Vail in the fifth.

Koosman grounded out to start the Mets' sixth and Randle was about to step in when everything went black.

"I thought to myself, 'This is my last at-bat. God is coming to get me,'" Randle said.

After a few minutes, Shea's emergency power system flickered some small lights on throughout the ballpark, although the arclights remained dark.

Mets Craig Swan and Joel Youngblood, along with a stadium employee, drove their cars into the outfield and turned on the headlights. That provided enough light for Jerry Grote and Bob Apodaca to entertain the crowd of around 12,000 with a phantom infield drill.

Meanwhile, organist Jane Jarvis provided a musical interlude for more than an hour until plate umpire Harry Wendelstedt terminated the proceedings.

In the Cubs' bullpen, Pete Broberg had just unleashed a warmup pitch when the lights went out. Fortunately, it was on target and thudded into catcher Steve Swisher's mitt a split second later.

In the candle-lit Cubs' clubhouse, George Mitterwald disclosed that "Coach Peanuts Lowrey told me of two times this happened. One time the pitcher had just thrown the ball. The batter bailed out, the catcher dove to the ground and the ball hit the umpire in the chest protector."

It was a night when even M. Donald Grant, the Mets' beleaguered chairman of the board, wasn't a target of the fans' wrath. Grant came on the public address system—it worked on auxiliary power—and thanked the fans for their cooperation and understanding. He also informed them of the blackout situation as provided by the Consolidated Edison utility.

The fans ignored Grant. They booed Con Edison.

In Philadelphia, Luzinski tagged former teammate Tom Underwood for a two-run homer in the first inning and a three-run shot in the third. That enabled Steve Carlton, with help from Tug McGraw in the eighth, to record his 12th triumph, tying him for the major league lead with Rick Reuschel of the Cubs and Frank Tanana and Nolan Ryan of the California Angels.

The Astros pushed across a run in the 13th inning to beat the Dodgers when Terry Puhl, playing in his first major league game, singled, was sacrificed to second and scored on Bob Watson's double. Jose Cruz scored Houston's first run in the fifth on Ken Boswell's double and homered in the seventh, tying the score.

The Reds remained 9½ games behind Los Angeles in the NL West as Atlanta's Buzz Capra, in his longest outing since 1975, fired seven strong innings, yielding two runs and six hits. George Foster and Mike Lum homered for the Reds, who fell short when Rick Camp pitched out of a bases-loaded jam in the ninth.

The Pirates snapped a 1-1 tie against Montreal with five runs in the seventh. After Rennie Stennett and Phil Garner delivered RBI singles off loser Steve Rogers, Dave Parker greeted reliever Will McEneaney with a two-run double and scored on a double by Bill Robinson. Gary Carter homered for the Expos.

Rob Andrews drove in three runs, two with a first-inning double, and Jack Clark homered, helping the Giants edge the Padres.

ABCD Tourney Set At PCC

The winning team of the first half of the Upper Lansdowne Wednesday Night League is Ashville Bank. Members of the team are: Roger Gloyd, Jerry Farrington, Mike Sparks and Harry Martin.

Team standings for the first half are:

Ashville Bank 120 points, Gloyd's Sohio 115½, Nutter Excavating 105, Alro Auto Parts 103, Marathon Oil 98, Pickaway Gardens 92, Professional Lawn Care 70, Second National Bank 68, Goodyear 63.

Low gross Wednesday was a 39 shot by Scott Marshall. Low net was a 34 by Pete Strawser. Second National Bank carded the low team net score.

Next Wednesday will start the second half of the league.

Oil, Firemen Post Wins

Circleville Oil defeated Giovanni's 17-4 in Slo-pitch action Wednesday. Kelly Boyer was the winning pitcher. The oilmen also downed the Fire Department by an 18-4 count. Big hitters for the night for Circleville Oil were Greg Bigham, Mick Tomlinson, Terry Morrison, Jim Diltz, and Brent Mancini.

The firemen also defeated Mary's Saloon by a 10-9 margin. Mike Brown was the winning hurler.

Cincy Reds Batting Nearing Record

CINCINNATI (AP) — The Cincinnati Reds are heading for new team batting records if they keep up their current tempo at the plate.

Through their first 81 games, the Reds batted .292, tops in the major leagues this season. That is only four points away from the all time club mark of .296 set by the 1922 Reds.

Cincinnati, which last season set club records for most runs, hits and runs batted in, is also on its way to breaking these marks again this season.

One of baseball's most explosive teams, the Reds averaged 5.6 runs per game through the first half of this season averaged 10 hits per contest.

Bass Tournament Set At Buckeye Lake

The Pickaway Farmers and Sportsmen Assn. will hold a bass tournament 7 a.m. to 1 p.m. Sunday at Buckeye Lake.

All entries should register at Hunts Landing by 7 a.m. Wendell See is chairman of the tournament.

Umpires Lead Lonely Life

NEW YORK (AP) — They're called bums and accused of being blind as bats, but baseball's umpires are a group of trained professionals who lead a lonely existence.

While baseball players spend half the season on the road and half at home, umpires spend all 162 games on the road and see their families an average of only six days a season.

"People look at our life as being glamorous," eight-year American League veteran Dave Phillips said before a recent game at Yankee Stadium. "But I look at it as being a 24-hour job because I'm never home."

I'm in each city to work and it's not a vacation.

Umpires arrive at the ballpark about 1½ hour before a game and go right to work.

The umpire working behind the plate has to rub up six dozen baseballs with mud taken from the bottom of the Delaware River. The man who worked behind the plate the previous night must sit in the stands to make sure players from opposing teams do not fraternize with each other in accordance with baseball's rules.

In addition to officiating the game, umpires have to make all their own reservations for hotels, restaurants and airlines. They also have to arrange for transfer of their own equipment.

Most major league umpires have attended umpiring schools where they have been taught things like positioning on the field and how not to anticipate a play. Umpires then go through an apprenticeship in the minor leagues.

Umpires start at $16,000 annually and get a $1,000 raise each year. They receive $54 each day to cover hotels, meals and miscellaneous expenses.

The average umpire travels 100,000 miles a year from city to city and it takes its toll.

"It's hard on your family because you're away so much," said Tom Gorman, who umpired in the National League for 25 years before retiring last year. "A lot of guys never get home. But you have to have a great wife who is willing to raise your family."

Import Autos Grab Big Part Of U.S. Market

DETROIT (AP) — After four years of frustrating breakdowns and expensive repair bills, John Vrazo decided to trade in his 1973 Chevrolet Vega this spring for a new car.

The 27-year-old Detroit resident looked at a Chevette, but wasn't impressed, and when two Chevy dealers refused to take his Vega in trade, he went elsewhere. He wound up buying a Toyota Corolla with radial tires, AM-FM radio and "a nice interior" — for just $3,455.

That pattern is being repeated by record numbers of car buyers across the nation this year, and it's providing a bonanza for makers of small foreign cars.

During the first half of 1977, Americans bought 1,078,000 imports, 54 per cent more than in 1976. Sales for the full year could hit two million for the first time.

Since the spring, imports have been accounting for one of every five new cars sold in the country. In March they hit 188,000 to top a four-year old single-month record. In April, they jumped to 206,000. Amazed U.S. auto men said it couldn't happen again. Then in May, sales rose to 220,000. That was 2,500 more cars than sold by Ford, the nation's No. 2 auto maker.

U.S. and foreign car executives say the tremendous demand for imports — mostly small, inexpensive and fuel-sipping models from Japan — is a temporary, brief hysterical reaction to President Carter's call for energy conservation.

Noting the same thing happened immediately after the Arab oil embargo started in the fall of 1973, industry analysts pointed to the imports' sales in June, when volume fell to 198,000 units, still a record for the month but well below May's pace.

Some importers, though, said their volume was hurt by low stocks rather than declining consumer interest.

But all that doesn't explain why sales of small, low-priced and fuel-sipping domestic cars remain off from last year, or why big cars continue to sell like hotcakes.

A decade ago, the Japanese were making a second bid to establish themselves here. Several years before, they began exporting cars with a manufacturing technology still in its infancy. The cars were poorly made and sales were dismal.

Since then, they have worked out the bugs and undergone an image metamorphosis. Detroit concedes cars from Japan are made as well as here. The Japanese say they're made better.

"There is a conception whether real or imagined that imports seem to have more reliability and durability than domestic small cars," said Robert L. Link, president of the U.S. distributor for Datsun.

The importers are not alone in that view. A GM executive noted, "I shouldn't say this, but the imports build a damn good car at very competitive prices. They have the cheapest entry into the market."

United Auto Workers head Douglas Fraser has rapped Detroit for "sitting on its hands" and not making a small car as good as an import.

And, a Chevy dealer in Detroit who called the Vega "a sour pill" complained "our small cars just don't compare to theirs (imports)."

Industry critics charge Detroit never wanted to build small cars because the bulk of the market is big-car oriented, and that's where the big profit dollars are.

Similarly, dealers and salesmen would just as soon push big cars with their bigger mark-up and sales commissions.

Detroit executives argue it didn't make sense to invest a great deal of money in small cars which couldn't compete with low-priced European imports in the 1960s and Japanese imports in the 1970s.

But to protect itself in the growing small-car segment, Detroit brought out inexpensive versions of its compact cars in 1969-70 and called them subcompacts.

Times have rapidly changed, though. The energy crisis has triggered a permanent swing toward smaller cars, and Detroit is responding with a new generation of cars which it hopes will lay to rest doubts about its ability to design good cars in small packages.

Early next year, Chrysler will debut U.S.-assembled subcompact based on a car it builds in France. It has front wheel drive and a transverse-mounted engine, and many auto observers believe the car is Detroit's best response yet to the imports.

GM and Ford are going the same route, with plans to introduce small European style cars with front-wheel-drive by 1980.

Five Points News

By MRS. FRANCIS FURNISS

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Furniss were Fourth of July luncheon guests of Mrs. Sherman Furniss in Clarksburg.

The Five Points United Methodist Women met Wednesday evening July 6 in the home of Mrs. Paul Moore for their July meeting. The president Mrs. Mildred Davis opened the meeting with the Lord's Prayer. The roll call was answered by 12 members naming their favorite flower. The secretary being absent, no report was given. The treasurer, Mrs. Ethel Furniss gave the financial report and a discussion concerning regular business was held. Cards of cheer were signed to be sent to those who are ill in the community. Mrs. Davis gave meditations from Exodus 14:15 and then conducted a Bible contest on the 3rd Chapter of Acts 1-11 verses which proved very interesting and educational. The meeting closed with prayer and lovely refreshments were served by Mrs. Moore, assisted by Ellen Dennis and Winifred Conley.

The sympathy of the community is extended to the family of Mary Grabill. She passed away last Wednesday morning at Madison County Hospital. Her funeral was held Saturday afternoon in the Porter Funeral Home in Mt. Sterling with burial in Pleasant Cemetery.

The Rev. and Mrs. Larry Zellers of Groveport and Mr. and Mrs. William Davis were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. John Beathard and children Nicole and Shawn.

Keith Kern spent the weekend at Buckeye Lake with Sammy Hart, and George Kern attended the Scout Camp at Lake Vesuvius, at Huntington, West Va. last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Dale Johnson of New Plymouth were Tuesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Messick.

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Furniss and Miss Laura Long were Friday afternoon guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gene R. Donohue of near Washington C. H.

Mr. and Mrs. Wynn Rogers, Jim and Kathy and Mrs. Gregg Holmes and baby daughter Elizabeth of Huntington, Indiana spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Joe Rogers. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rogers, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Rogers of near Circleville and

During the first half of 1977, Americans bought 1,078,000 imports, 54 per cent more than in 1976. Sales for the full year could hit two million for the first time.

Since the spring, imports have been accounting for one of every five new cars sold in the country. In March they hit 188,000 to top a four-year old single-month record. In April, they jumped to 206,000. Amazed U.S. auto men said it couldn't happen again. Then in May, sales rose to 220,000. That was 2,500 more cars than sold by Ford, the nation's No. 2 auto maker.

U.S. and foreign car executives say the tremendous demand for imports — mostly small, inexpensive and fuel-sipping models from Japan — is a temporary, brief hysterical reaction to President Carter's call for energy conservation.

Noting the same thing happened immediately after the Arab oil embargo started in the fall of 1973, industry analysts pointed to the imports' sales in June, when volume fell to 198,000 units, still a record for the month but well below May's pace.

Some importers, though, said their volume was hurt by low stocks rather than declining consumer interest.

But all that doesn't explain why sales of small, low-priced and fuel-sipping domestic cars remain off from last year, or why big cars continue to sell like hotcakes.

Vrazo, who is single and works for the city, said he bought his Toyota for two main reasons: low price and quality.

Imports are strongest on the two coasts, where they account for up to a third of the new car market. They are weakest in the Midwest, the home of the domestic industry. In Michigan, imports account for less than 6 per cent of the market, the national low.

Some industry executives attribute that pattern to the fact that shipping charges for imports are lowest on the coasts and highest in the Midwest.

"Everything ultimately comes down to price," the Ford analyst said. "In the 1960s, when the VW was cheap and sales were 60,000 a month, everyone said it was the best car around. No one talked about price, that it was hundreds of dollars less than anything we made."

"Then the price shot up $1,000 and sales fell apart. There went another myth about import quality."

But while Ford decries the myth of import superiority, it plans to exploit that myth this summer when it debuts its Fiesta minicar — an imported car built by Ford in Germany.

Richard L. Mugg, a vice president for VW of America, says there's no myth. "We design a small car from scratch. We pay a lot of attention to detail. Detroit's small car tends to be a big car made small."

Mugg believes people who want an inexpensive small car buy a Japanese model; those who want a well built small car and don't care as much about price, buy European. "Detroit's problem is that its small cars are neither very good nor very cheap," he said. "It's that horrible area in between which Detroit has chosen to occupy."

Sales of European cars remain down from the early 1970s due to high prices caused by inflation at home and unfavorable money exchanges.

But Japanese imports are soaring. Sales are up 73 per cent from 1976 to a record 740,000 cars through June. That's a 13 per cent share of the market — almost equal to Chrysler and American Motors combined.

A decade ago, the Japanese were making a second bid to establish themselves here. Several years before, they began exporting cars with a manufacturing technology still in its infancy. The cars were poorly made and sales were dismal.

Since then, they have worked out the bugs and undergone an image metamorphosis. Detroit concedes cars from Japan are made as well as here. The Japanese say they're made better.

"There is a conception whether real or imagined that imports seem to have more reliability and durability than domestic small cars," said Robert L. Link, president of the U.S. distributor for Datsun.

The importers are not alone in that view. A GM executive noted, "I shouldn't say this, but the imports build a damn good car at very competitive prices. They have the cheapest entry into the market."

United Auto Workers head Douglas Fraser has rapped Detroit for "sitting on its behind" and not making a small car as good as an import.

And, a Chevy dealer in Detroit who called the Vega "a sour pill" complained "our small cars just don't compare to theirs (imports)."

Industry critics charge Detroit never wanted to build small cars because the bulk of the market is big-car oriented, and that's where the big profit dollars are.

Similarly, dealers and salesmen would just as soon push big cars with their bigger mark-up and sales commissions.

Detroit executives argue it didn't make sense to invest a great deal of money in small cars which couldn't compete with low-priced European imports in the 1960s and Japanese imports in the 1970s.

No Souvenirs

NEW YORK (AP) — A live souvenir from abroad can be dangerous, warns the Air Transport Association.

Bringing forbidden plants or animals into the United States may seem innocuous at the time, but even a couple of destructive parasites can multiply to epidemic numbers in a new environment that contains none of their natural enemies, said the ATA.

In 1966, two African snails brought into Florida from Hawaii, multiplied into more than 100,000 vegetable and houseplant-eating mollusks and took six years to eradicate. In 1971, a sick parakeet brought into southern California started an epidemic of Newcastle disease, and resulted in the death of 12 million infected or exposed pet birds and poultry.

Even a simple little Bonsai tree might contain destructive insects and grubs or dangerous plant diseases, said the ATA. To find out which plants and animals from abroad may be brought into the United States and which not, travelers can write for the booklet "Travelers Tips" available from the U.S. Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C.

Pygmy marmosets from the upper Amazon region weigh only about four-and-a-half ounces.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

What kind of day will tomorrow be? To find out what the stars say, read the forecast given for your birth Sign.

FOR FRIDAY
ARIES (Mar. 21 to Apr. 20): Teamwork will be important now, so make it a point to associate and work with those whose interests are similar to your own.

TAURUS (Apr. 21 to May 21): Here is a dandy chance for you to do a little more than asked and be highly rewarded. Don't pass up the "extras" - not for reward's sake, but to make a substantial stride in the right direction.

GEMINI (May 22 to June 21): Avoid impulsiveness and recklessness; also reaching for the unreasonable. Don't stop aspiring, believing and dreaming, but keep both feet on the ground.

CANCER (June 22 to July 23): Some trying situations possible. Be alert and remain your calm, capable self, and problems will be solved more easily. A bit of clever strategy will also help.

LEO (July 24 to Aug. 23): You normally aspire to a position of leadership and others are only too willing to follow. A fine day in which to gain cooperation in putting over a pet project.

VIRGO (Aug. 24 to Sept. 23): Waste no time in daydreaming. Think constructively and direct all efforts into channels leading to a more profitable future. The p.m. favors romance.

LIBRA (Sept. 24 to Oct. 23): If you do not understand a situation, seek counsel from more experienced heads. Do not rely on guesswork. It could only lead to confusion.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24 to Nov. 23): Mixed influences. In all endeavors, be selective and stress quality rather than quantity of effort. News from afar may surprise pleasantly.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23 to Dec. 21): Consider all new propositions and suggestions carefully before accepting. Some deceptive influences, now prevalent, could lead to unpleasant involvements unless you are alert.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22 to Jan. 20): Do not let overoptimism lead you into making dubious investments. In fact, it would be a mistake to make any drastic changes in your financial setup at the moment.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 21 to Feb. 19): Do not let yourself be "thrown" by certain distractions. The well-developed Aquarian has ability to concentrate on his objectives, so put it to use NOW.

PISCES (Feb. 20 to Mar. 20): Mixed influences. Special care needed in handling the affairs of others, in study, science, research, maritime affairs.

YOU BORN TODAY are endowed with deep feelings, unusual sensitivity and a tremendous compassion for your fellowmen. More outgoing than most persons born under your Sign, you could be a great success in public life; could also excel in the theater. You are less conventional than most Cancerians, more venturesome and have greater qualities of leadership. Also, you have decided artistic talents and, if you do not choose one of the arts as a career, should embrace one as a hobby. In the business world, you could go far as manufacturer; in professional areas, would make an excellent lawyer, physician or diplomat. Birthdate of: Rembrandt, renowned Dutch painter; Henry (Cardinal) Cushing, noted Amer. clergyman.

Tag That Bag

NEW YORK (AP) — With airlines carrying more than half a million passengers a day, identification tags for all checked baggage has become more important than ever, says the Air Transport Association. Proper identification, it said, helps the airlines trace suitcases gone astray and prevents passengers from picking up the wrong bag. The ATA adds that most airlines provide free baggage identification labels at the ticket counter for passengers who need them.

Radiocarbon dating was developed at the University of Chicago in the late 1940s.

Lockbourne Man Killed In Georgia

The "execution-style" slaying of a Pickaway County man is being investigated by police in Warner Robins, Georgia.

The bound and gagged body of 47-year-old Irvin W. Woodward, Lockbourne Lodge Trailer Court, was discovered Tuesday morning in the bathtub of a motel in Warner Robins, which is located about 30 miles south of Macon.

Woodward may have drowned in the bathtub, police said, but they are waiting the results of an autopsy before making a final determination of the cause of death.

Police said Woodward's hands were tied, a cloth had been stuffed in his mouth, and adhesive tape covered his lips.

Woodward, a retired military man, had been vacationing in Florida with his wife and son, police said. The wife and son apparently returned to Ohio earlier in the week.

Stoutsville OKs Budget

Stoutsville Village Council approved the budget for 1978 at its meeting Tuesday.

Mayor Ellsworth Wright appointed Robert Harrison to fill the vacancy on council created by the resignation of William Martin.

Mayor Wright appointed Robert Harrison, Jeff Smith and Leewood Rhymer as a committee to approve the work to be done on storm tiles in the village after council voted to have them cleaned with a hydro-laser.

Dick Riffle was present and discussed progress of obtaining water for the village.

Current bills were approved for payment.

Members present in addition to Mayor Wright were Charles Harrison, Robert Harrison, Lloyd Meyer, Leewood Rhymer, Jeff Smith and Clerk Mary E. Meyer.

CIA Deputy Quits In Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — The man who ran the day-to-day operations of the Central Intelligence Agency for the past year has quit in an apparent dispute over major changes planned by President Carter's CIA director.

The resignation of E. Henry Knoche, submitted to Carter on July 5, may be the first in a series by CIA veterans in what reportedly is a policy disagreement with CIA director Adm. Stansfield Turner.

Knoche, who received the government's highest civilian service award six months ago from then-President Gerald R. Ford, was the No. 2 executive in the CIA, holding the title of deputy director of central intelligence.

A CIA spokesman announced the resignation Wednesday and denied reports that Knoche had been forced to resign.

The 24-year veteran of the scandal-stricken agency explained his decision in a letter distributed to other CIA employees late Wednesday.

"We have successfully come through some difficult times together in recent years," the letter said. "More change looms on the horizon and properly so. Dealing with these changes will be an exciting task."

"But, in the end, having weighed all the factors, I concluded that it would be in the best interests of the agency and the nation's intelligence efforts if I stepped aside now to facilitate the director's task as he prepares to make decisions about new organizational forms and the kind of new leadership that he will need to carry out his future plans."

Knowledgeable sources said Wednesday that Knoche, 52, resigned because of a dispute with Turner over his policies and programs. And the sources said more resignations of CIA veterans are possible because of disgruntlement with Turner's policy initiatives as well as his tactics in running the agency.

Details of the policy dispute were not available.

Despite Knoche's statement, the CIA denied that major personnel changes — forced or voluntary — or major organizational shifts are planned.

"There are no plans for forced retirements or removals of any top CIA officials. There are no plans for major changes in the CIA organization at this time," the CIA statement said.

One source said the publicity surrounding Knoche's resignation and reports of Turner forcing other agency officials out may forestall any such firings by Turner.

Sources from both the House and Senate committees charged with overseeing the CIA complained they had been given no word on the Knoche resignation, despite Carter pledges to keep them fully informed.

Knoche's successor will have to be confirmed by the Senate.

President Carter said at a February 1977 news conference that Knoche was "very competent." At the time, Knoche was acting director of the CIA, filling the gap between the resignation of George Bush and Turner's confirmation.

Knoche joined the CIA in 1953 as an analyst. He was the first person from the analysis branch, which makes up the largest portion of the agency, to reach a position as high as deputy director in the agency. Previous career CIA officials to reach the top echelon of the agency had come from the agency's clandestine service.

Major Steel Firms Face Federal Probe

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The nation's major steel firms are being investigated by the Justice Department for possible price fixing of hot-rolled sheet steel, a product used largely for consumer goods.

The investigation was made public Wednesday when Jones & Laughlin Steel Corp., said it had received a civil investigative demand — the equivalent of a subpoena — from the department.

Other major steelmakers, including U.S. Steel Corp., and Bethlehem Steel Corp., the nation's nation's No. 1 and 2 producers, later confirmed they have received similar orders for information.

Also included were National Steel, Armco Steel, Republic Steel, Youngstown Sheet and Tube, Wheeling-Pittsburg Steel and Inland Steel.

Hot-rolled sheet steel is widely used in automobiles and appliances.

"It's the one product that's common to all companies," said a steel company spokesman. "It is the one that will drag in the most firms."

The government is seeking information about steel price hikes since January 1974. Hotrolled sheet prices have risen 61 per cent from $163 a ton to $263 a ton since wage-price controls were lifted in April, 1974.

The most recent increase went into effect last June 19 when domestic producers raised the price of sheet steel by 6 per cent.

The round of hikes started when Republic Steel announced a 9 per cent increase. That increase was condemned as too high by the federal Council on Wage and Price Stability.

Three days later U.S. Steel, after first notifying the government, announced a 6 per cent increase. The other major steel firms followed, and Republic rolled back to 6 per cent.

The Justice Department said in December it was reviewing the 6 per cent increase on sheet and strip products and would institute a full investigation if merited.

Department spokesman Mark Sheehan said Wednesday that antitrust officials handling the case have no current plans to open a criminal investigation. A civil probe could lead to a lawsuit, depending "entirely on what we find," he said.

School Aide Sentenced

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP) — Harold Flowers, who left the school system here two years ago to accept a position at Texas Southern University, has received two suspended jail sentences after pleading guilty to two charges involving misappropriation of about $3,600 in school funds.

Butler County Common Pleas Court Judge Fred B. Cramer Wednesday suspended a 1½-5 year prison term on a conviction for grand theft and placed Flowers on five years probation.

A 90-day jail sentence was suspended on a count of petty theft.

Flowers pleaded guilty last month to checks involving the theft of $3,500 in a count converted to his own use and the theft of $124 for the purchase of a tape recorder and a calculator.

"You and your family have suffered far beyond any punishment which could be imposed by this court," Judge Cramer said.

The judge also expressed concern about the actions of Flowers, who had served as an assistant superintendent here before becoming director of business affairs at Texas Southern.

"I am at a complete loss that someone with your training, education and background would engage in such conduct," Judge Cramer said.

Deputies Probe Several Thefts

Theft of a citizen band radio and tools are being investigated by Pickaway County Sheriff's Deputies.

Glen Corlett, Columbus, told deputies that thieves entered his locked car in the parking lot of Reynolds Metals, Ashville, to take a citizen band radio.

The Pace CB, valued at $125, was attached to a slide mount which was broken from the dash of the car. Wires were pulled to free the unit.

Jeff Amann, 1727 E. 2nd Ringgold-Northern Road, told deputies that thieves took a tool box valued at $75 and $250 worth of tools.

The items were in a car owned by a Friend, Amann said. Amann apparently loaned the tools to the friend several weeks ago.

PUCO Orders More Free Info Calls

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Public Utilities Commission of Ohio has ordered Ohio Bell Telephone Co. to allow its residential customers five free information calls each month, beginning Aug. 15.

"It would seem more efficient to raise the call allowance rather than implement an entirely new system," PUCO said Wednesday after reviewing the first-year record of the present three-call plan.

The decision does not change the three-call limit for business or centrex subscribers, or the 20-cent charge for each call above the limit.

Ohio Bell had testified a selective charging system, where a customer is charged only if the number he sought was in his local book, would cost $7 million to install and require 345 new operators.

The higher call limit is expected to cut in half the number of residents charged for directory assistance calls. Less than 10 per cent of Ohio Bell's residential subscribers exceed the current limit.

In other action, the commission: — Approved a plan by Columbia Gas of Ohio to provide loans of up to $750 for the insulation of ceilings in gas heated homes.

The plan requires the insulation be bought from an approved contractor. It may be installed by the homeowner or a contractor, but the work is subject to Columbia's inspection.

Columbia will require a 10 per cent down payment, and allow up to three years to repay the loan. It will charge 6 per cent "add-on" interest, which would be 11.08 per cent a year for a three-year loan.

Lockbourne Man Killed In Georgia

The "execution-style" slaying of a Pickaway County man is being investigated by police in Warner Robins, Georgia.

The bound and gagged body of 47-year-old Irvin W. Woodward, Lockbourne Lodge Trailer Court, was discovered Tuesday morning in the bathtub of a motel in Warner Robins, which is located about 30 miles south of Macon.

Woodward may have drowned in the bathtub, police said, but they are waiting the results of an autopsy before making a final determination of the cause of death.

Police said Woodward's hands were tied, a cloth had been stuffed in his mouth, and adhesive tape covered his lips.

Woodward, a retired military man, had been vacationing in Florida with his wife and son, police said. The wife and son apparently returned to Ohio earlier in the week.

Stoutsville OKs Budget

Stoutsville Village Council approved the budget for 1978 at its meeting Tuesday.

Mayor Ellsworth Wright appointed Robert Harrison to fill the vacancy on council created by the resignation of William Martin.

Mayor Wright appointed Robert Harrison, Jeff Smith and Leewood Rhymer as a committee to approve the work to be done on storm tiles in the village after council voted to have them cleaned with a hydro-laser.

Dick Riffle was present and discussed progress of obtaining water for the village.

Current bills were approved for payment.

Members present in addition to Mayor Wright were Charles Harrison, Robert Harrison, Lloyd Meyer, Leewood Rhymer, Jeff Smith and Clerk Mary E. Meyer.

CIA Deputy Quits In Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP) — The man who ran the day-to-day operations of the Central Intelligence Agency for the past year has quit in an apparent dispute over major changes planned by President Carter's CIA director.

The resignation of E. Henry Knoche, submitted to Carter on July 5, may be the first in a series by CIA veterans in what reportedly is a policy disagreement with CIA director Adm. Stansfield Turner.

Knoche, who received the government's highest civilian service award six months ago from then-President Gerald R. Ford, was the No. 2 executive in the CIA, holding the title of deputy director of central intelligence.

A CIA spokesman announced the resignation Wednesday and denied reports that Knoche had been forced to resign.

The 24-year veteran of the scandal-scarred agency explained his decision in a letter distributed to other CIA employees late Wednesday.

"We have successfully come through some difficult times together in recent years," the letter said. "More change looms on the horizon and properly so. Dealing with these changes will be an exciting task."

"But, in the end, having weighed all the factors, I concluded that it would be in the best interests of the agency and the nation's intelligence efforts if I stepped aside now to facilitate the director's task as he prepares to make decisions about new organizational forms and the kind of new leadership that he will need to carry out his future plans."

Knowledgeable sources said Wednesday that Knoche, 52, resigned because of a dispute with Turner over his policies and programs. And the sources said more resignations of CIA veterans are possible because of disquiet over Knoche's policy initiatives as well as his tactics in running the agency.

Details of the policy dispute were not available.

Despite Knoche's statement, the CIA denied that major personnel changes — forced or voluntary — or major organizational shifts are planned.

"There are no plans for forced retirements or removals of any top CIA officials. There are no plans for major changes in the CIA organization at this time," the CIA statement said.

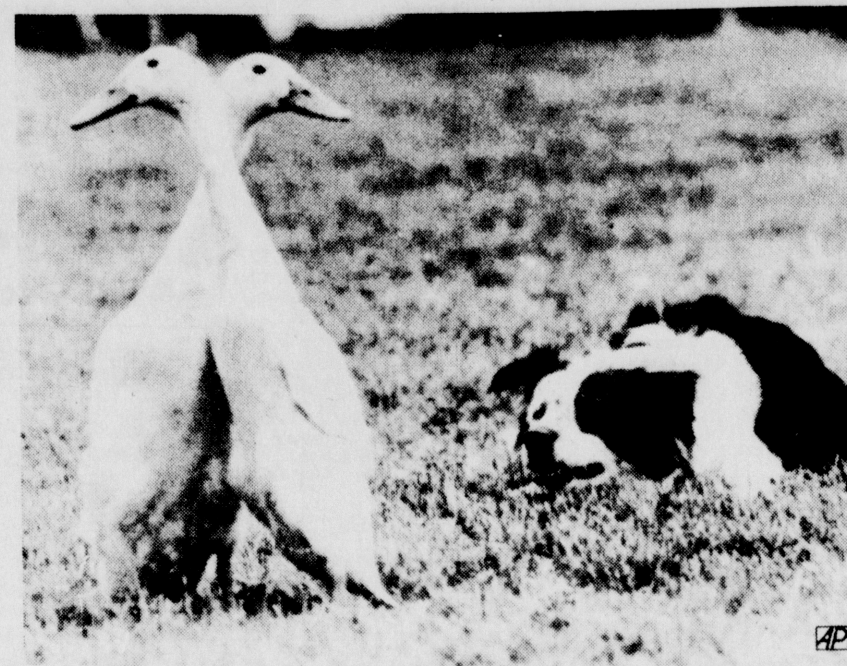

One source said the publicity surrounding Knoche's resignation and reports of Turner forcing other agency officials out may forestall any such firings by Turner.

Sources from both the House and Senate committees charged with overseeing the CIA complained they had been given no word on the Knoche resignation, despite Carter pledges to keep them fully informed.

Knoche's successor will have to be confirmed by the Senate.

President Carter said at a February 1977 news conference that Knoche was "very competent." At the time, Knoche was acting director of the CIA, filling the gap between the resignation of George Bush and Turner's confirmation.

Knoche joined the CIA in 1953 as an analyst. He was the first person from the analysis branch, which makes up the largest portion of the agency, to reach a position as high as deputy director in the agency. Previous career CIA officials to reach the top echelon of the agency had come from the agency's clandestine service.
